Manitoba Liberals Greet King At Convention

Dominion Liberal Leader In Winnipeg For Speech To-night

Mr. King at Opening Session of Annual Convention of Manitoba Liberal Association To-day; Manitoba Party to Decide If It Will Accept Posts in Bracken Cabinet

Winnipeg, Jan. 12. — Liberals of Manitoba went into convention session here this forenoon.

An interested observer as the delegates sat down for the opening meeting was Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Dominion Liberal leader, who arrived from Ottawa this morning. Mr. King is to address a banquet of the Manitoba Liberal Association this evening, and his speech is awaited with great interest, as it is expected to throw light on some of the questions which will come before Parliament at the session scheduled to open February 4.

One of the questions scheduled to be decided by the Manitoba convention is whether the party will accept the offer of Premier Bracken and throw the weight of its legislative strength with that of the Premier's Progressive government.

Mr. King briefly addressed the convention this forenoon, being given a great welcome by the delegates. As the delegates gathered this forenoon it was said a spirited debate was expected to develop when the convention was asked by the provincial Liberal leader, Dr. Murdoch MacKay, to decide the action of the party with regard to the invitation of Mr. Bracken that more than one Liberal member of the Legislature be included in the cabinet following the coming session of the Legislature.

Dr. MacKay was believed to favor accepting the Premier's offer for formation of a Progressive-Liberal cabinet, but a strong section of the delegates had announced it would oppose the move to link the two parties.

The Premier's offer, made last week, followed by several months an invitation to the Liberals, Conservatives and Laborites of the province to form a union government. Only the Liberals accepted the offer, which Mr. Bracken said a few days ago still stood.

COIN IS FOUND, BUT NO BOMB

Photograph Albums For Italian King and Mussolini Discovered in U.S. Mail

By Andree Berding, Associated Press Correspondent

Naples, Italy, Jan. 12.—The clerks in the post office stepped back in alarm to-day when, as they combed through thousands of sacks of mail brought by the liner Escaulapour from New York, they uncovered a suspicious looking package from the United States labelled "medals" and addressed to the king.

It was only four inches long, but the bomb squad took it into a vacant lot so nobody would be hurt when it exploded.

Carefully they removed the wrapping while an expert stood by. They disclosed a United States fifty-cent piece dated 1882.

With it was a note to the king from Modesto de Rosa, a barber in Newark, New Jersey.

"I send you this coin, 100 years old, in token of my affection," De Rosa had written.

King Victor Emanuel is a numismatist.

As the search continued, the clerks discovered and opened two more packages, one for the king and one for Premier Mussolini. They were photograph albums from admirers in the United States.

CLASH SEEN IN BOMBAY TO-DAY

Several Hundred Nationalists in Crowd; Police Withdraw From Scene

Canadian Press

Bombay, Jan. 12.—Several hundred Nationalists, defying the law against public meetings, held a gathering along the seafront this afternoon and clashed with police. Officers used their long sticks in a series of charges, but finally, with a view to averting more serious disorders, the police withdrew.

When charges were made the natives fought back until they were dispersed, but they returned to the fray each time. When darkness came the police retired. The natives then raised the Congress Party flag and speakers harangued the crowd.

JAPANESE FALL BEFORE BANDS OF CHINESE

Detachments Wiped Out Near Liao River in Manchuria By "Irregulars," Say Reports

Nanking Foreign Office Denies China Breaking Diplomatic Relations With Japan

Canadian Press and Associated Press Dispatches

London, Jan. 12.—An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Tokyo to-day said most severe fighting was continuing west of the Liao River in southern Manchuria, and that several Japanese detachments had been wiped out after being surrounded by thousands of well-equipped Chinese "irregulars," who were destroying the railways in order to prevent the arrival of reinforcements.

RELIEF FORCE SURROUNDED

Tokyo, Jan. 12.—A Bengo News Agency dispatch from Chinchow to-day said a Japanese detachment which had gone to the relief of a remnant of the Koga cavalry unit at Chinchow was surrounded by "bandits" and defending itself against tremendous odds.

The report said there were several thousand Chinese "irregulars," and it also indicated the city of Chinchow was burning.

All communication with the Japanese line was cut off, excepting by carrier pigeons.

Reinforcements were being rushed to the relief of the Chinese force.

CHINESE CLAIM SUCCESS

Tientsin, China, Jan. 12.—Japanese military authorities to-day confirmed reports of serious clashes with Chinese in the vicinity of Chinchow.

Chinese reports said there was severe fighting Sunday evening between Japanese and Chinese partisans at Hsien, between Chinchow and Etchayang. Later the Chinese sympathizers approached Chinchow after having surrounded the Japanese troops at Hsien, inflicting heavy casualties.

The Chinese reports also said the Chinese had been successful near Taku-shan.

Children Wade To School In Floods

Country Districts Contiguous to City Suffer From Heavy Precipitation; Families Are Marooned and Poultrymen Feed Chickens by Use of Rafts; Vast Sheets of Water in Saanich

Country Districts Contiguous to City Suffer From Heavy Precipitation; Families Are Marooned and Poultrymen Feed Chickens by Use of Rafts; Vast Sheets of Water in Saanich

Flooded state of the country-side as a result of the recent heavy rains is causing considerable trouble to those residing in the inundated districts. One-third of the students of the Happy Valley school have been prevented from attending the schoolhouse, and those who succeeded by wading will be forced to return with water swirling over the highway and ditches at the side of the roadway five feet deep, according to reports received in the city to-day. Similar flood conditions prevail in the Sooke and Jordan River districts.

RAFTS USED

Several families are reported to have been marooned in their homes in the Happy Valley district. Poultrymen have been forced to make rafts and ferry the fowl over several feet of water to reach their chicken-houses in order to feed poultry. The swollen freshets are adding to the danger and a number of small bridges have been washed away.

Transfers of foodstuffs are being made to-day over Sandstone Creek, on the Jordan River Road where a wooden trestle bridge and a log-railway bridge were carried away before the rushing waters.

The Department of Public Works has erected a temporary footbridge across Sandstone Creek by felling logs.

Bus services are also being maintained, with buses operating on both sides of the obstruction. There is no danger to the B.C.E.R. plant at Jordan River, it was announced to-day.

THREE FEET AT SILLS

There was three feet of water over the sills at the power plant yesterday. It was stated, however, that in other years there had been from six to eight feet over the sills. A little trouble was experienced this morning with snow, one line being out.

The East Sooke Road was impassable yesterday with four feet of water over the highway in the vicinity of Beecher Bay.

Heavy floods have been experienced on the road to William Head, but the quarantine station has not been isolated. It was stated this morning.

BIG DITCH TAKEN

Extensive floods are reported in the Saanich Peninsula and in areas immediately contiguous to the city. The big ditch on Shelbourne Street on the city side of Cedar Hill Road is being taxed to its utmost capacity to take care of the flood water. The main paved highway, however, has not been affected.

Pear Street, in the immediate neighborhood of Cedar Hill Road, was flooded to the danger of stalling automobiles, but it is passable to-day. Great stretches of water are to be seen on all sides of the highways and a sharp frost at this time would provide excellent skating.

HOLDS POST AT HARBIN AFTER JAPAN'S APOLOGY

Canadian Press

Brookville, Ont., Jan. 12.—On behalf of the Leeds Farmers' Protective Association, T. J. Davidson, president, to-day telegraphed Premier Bennett, urging him to delay the appointment of a Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario until the thousands of citizens seeking relief are in a financial position to support themselves.

Mr. Davidson's action followed reports that Premier Henry of Ontario would confer with Mr. Bennett this week in connection with the appointment. The association last week adopted a resolution asking Government House in Toronto be closed.

The term of Hon. W. D. Ross as Lieutenant-Governor expired to-day.

The beating given Culver B. Chamberlain, above, by three Japanese soldiers at Mukden recently was the subject of an apology by the Tokyo Government to the United States Government. Mr. Chamberlain is now at Harbin, to which Manchurian city he was going to take a consular post when the attack was made in Mukden.

APPROVE WHEAT QUOTA SCHEME FOR BRITAIN

Millers, Grain Merchants and Farmers Accept Plan Drafted

Committee to Work With Ministry in Settling Details of Scheme

Canadian Press

London, Jan. 12.—The government's wheat quota scheme, granting British farmers a guaranteed share of the British wheat market at a fixed price, was approved at a conference between the Ministry of Agriculture and representatives of the millers, corn merchants and farmers here to-day.

Details of the scheme will be settled by a committee working with the ministry and the project will be placed in legislative form. It is the preliminary to giving Dominion wheat their own quota in the British market.

By a vote of seven to three the City Council yesterday evening refused to express an opinion on the principle of salary reductions for civic employees as the initial step to balance the 1932 budget. Practically all seats in the council chamber were occupied when the meeting was called to order.

The whole question of wage cuts, both for employees and for the city themselves, was laid over to come up in proper order during consideration of the estimates, along with recommendations from the various committees and departmental heads.

Two motions were placed before the council, one by Alderman P. R. Brown, asking the board to adopt the principle of salary cuts for all employees, and the other by Alderman John A. Worthington, for reduction of aldermanic indemnities from $600 to $400 per year.

Neither was voted upon, as amendments were made to the effect that the resolutions be tabled for consideration by the estimates committee. The vote in favor of the amendment to the first motion was: Aldermen J. Adam, H. O. Litchfield, W. T. Strath, R. T. Williams, Alex. Feden, W. R. Kinsman and W. D. Todd; against, Aldermen Brown, Worthington and T. W. G. Hawkins.

On the amendment to Alderman Worthington's resolution the vote was: In favor, Aldermen Adam, Litchfield, Strath, Hawkins, Feden, Kinsman and Todd; against, Aldermen Brown, Worthington and Williams.

ALL TAKE PART

Discussion on the salary question awaited with considerable interest since last Wednesday when Alderman Brown announced his intention of bringing it up, provoked lengthy views from nearly all members of the council.

Alderman Brown altered his original motion in form, asking as an initial step that the council go on record in favor of the principle of reducing all civic wages in view of the financial condition of the city.

NECESSARY STAND

"I quite realize it is an unpopular move, but it is necessary to take a decided stand," he said. "The example has got to be set in this council if we wish other bodies in the civic service to help us balance the budget. Many corporations and private businesses have found salary reductions necessary. If the aldermen of Victoria are against the idea let them say so now and then we can forget all about it and tackle something else."

"I won't touch it unless aldermanic indemnities are included," Alderman Worthington interposed.

Saskatoon Feels Blizzard's Lash

Saskatoon, Sask., Jan. 12.—A blinding blizzard raged here yesterday evening, with lower temperatures after a day of rain and thaw. This morning the storm seemed to have spent itself, although it had not entirely subsided. Great drifts of snow blocked roads and sidewalks and city ploughs were out early to force paths through the snowdrifts. Motor traffic is becoming more difficult daily and the street car system has its own troubles this morning.

The engineer will report to the public works committee on Friday for authorization of the work.

BAGLEY HUNTED ON PRAIRIES

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Jan. 12.—Provincial police officers returned here this morning from Washington, where they had co-operated with United States deputies in the search for William Bagley, escaped Okalla prisoner. While an intensive search in the vicinity of Burlington, Bellingham and Seattle was fruitless, the officers who took part are positive Bagley was identified last Friday evening in Burlington.

Search continues for Gordon Fawcett, one of the four prisoners who accompanied Bagley when he broke from Okalla. Three of the men were recaptured.

Police at railway points in Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba have been asked to watch for Bagley and Fawcett in the event of their working east on freight trains.

Washington, Jan. 12.—Protest against reports of danger to white women in Hawaii came from its governor to-day as the Justice Department began to gather information on which to base an investigation it had been instructed to make.

Governor Lawrence Judd, in a cablegram to Delegate Houston, said the reports were "malicious and exaggerated." His message was in reply to a request for the Senate request for investigation of conditions in Hawaii.

Names Announced by Premier at Presentation to Government in Ottawa of Petition on Disarmament Signed by More Than 480,000 Canadians, Citizens Of All Provinces

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Sir George Perley, senior member of the Cabinet and former Canadian High Commissioner in Great Britain, Hon. Maurice Dupre, Solicitor-General, and Miss M. W. Kydd of Montreal, president of the National Council of Women will represent Canada at the approaching Disarmament Conference at Geneva. Announcement was made to-day by Premier Bennett in receiving a great petition asking for disarmament.

The petition, bearing more than 480,000 names of citizens from the Atlantic to the Pacific, was presented to the Government by a delegation from the League of Nations Society in Canada and the Canadian section of the Women's International League for Peace and the Disarmament Petition Committee.

(Names of many Victorians are on the petition. Numerous citizens signed it during the visit Miss Agnes MacPhail, M.P., recently paid Victoria, when she delivered a address in the city.)

SENT FOR HERBERT

After he had received the ministers, the Premier sent for Edouard Herriot, chief of the Radical Socialists, whose support he was said to need if he was to form a National Union Government something like Great Britain's.

This action, not altogether unexpected, followed a conversation between the Premier and M. Briand, whose ill-health impelled him to ask last week that he be permitted to retire as Foreign Minister.

The development, coupled with the sudden death of Andre Maginot, Minister of War, precipitated the Cabinet crisis

Inquiry Into Hospital Costs May Be Necessary

City Council Preparing to Look Into All Sides of Financial Troubles

Decide to Pay Debt Obligations in Canadian Funds, Saving Exchange

More proof of the thorough manner in which the 1932 City Council intends to deal with the year's estimates was given at yesterday evening's meeting of the aldermanic board.

One significant statement was that of Mayor Leeming to the effect that he did not expect the estimates would be completed, and the tax rate struck until some time in May.

Of the departments receiving civic aid, which will come under careful scrutiny, will be the Jubilee Hospital

It was indicated when Alderman F. R. Brown, finance committee chairman, was supported on a motion asking the hospital directors to advise the city what proportion of its 1931 deficit was due to patients from Victoria.

The council had before it a legal opinion regarding the responsibility for admittance of patients to the hospital. This stated that if indigents were refused from any municipality the hospital would be liable to lose its government grant in regard to that municipality. This information was forwarded to the hospital directors along with Alderman Brown's request.

TO INVESTIGATE COSTS

He stated that in view of indications that government grants would be curtailed this year it was possible the city again would have to hold a conference with municipal representatives regarding hospital costs, and he wished to be advised of the city's actual liability.

From the Provincial Department of Education, the council was advised of the changes in educational grants. Victoria will get only 25 per cent of teachers' salaries from the government this year, a reduction of about 8 per cent.

Another matter tackled by the board was that of debt payments in New York, on which the city stood to lose a considerable sum if paid in U.S. funds, according to the present rate of exchange. After a lengthy discussion on this point it was decided the obligations would be met in Canadian money. Since the city has approximately $263,700 to meet in New York this year, a considerable loss will be avoided in this connection. The decision was made after consideration of legal opinion on the point.

CONTESTING SAANICH REEVESHIP

REEVE WILLIAM CROUCH seeking sixth term.

Rev. M. W. J. Bruce president, Saanich Board of Trade.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION SOON IN GERMANY

Berlin, Jan. 12.—Chancellor Brüning's plan to continue the term of President Paul von Hindenburg through a vote of the Reichstag appeared to-day to have been shelved in the face of the Nationalists' demand for a general election. The election probably will be held early in March. After several days of discussion Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, and Alfred Hugenberg, leader of the Nationalists, announced they had sent a joint letter to the Chancellor declining to support his plan, but declaring they would place nothing in the way of the veteran President's re-election by the people.

They indicated he would not be opposed by a candidate of either of their parties. The President had let it be known he would accept a new term only on condition he was not opposed.

SAYS REEVE CROUCH CAUSED UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

Huge Meeting at St. Mark's Hall Hears Candidates Exchange Charges

Allegations That Police Fought and Bullied Citizens to Be Investigated

Exchange of charges by Saanich reeveship candidates, with allegations from the floor against municipal police officers, featured the opening of the Saanich reeveship campaign yesterday evening at St. Mark's Hall, Boleskin Road, where H. Porter presided over a meeting of nearly 250 men and women of Ward Two. The gathering was the largest and noisiest held in the municipality since the famous campaign in 1914, in which George McGregor ousted Reeve Nicholson from office.

Reeve Crouch presented the financial statement for last year, which showed indebtedness to the bank to be very little above that of last year, despite the unemployment situation which the council had to finance. Allowing for amounts due from the Provincial and Dominion governments, advanced by the bank, the net bank loan of $66,500 was only $8,000 above last year, when $20,000 was owed the bank. To illustrate the excellence of the position of Saanich the Reeve said Saanich bonds were selling on the market on a 5 1/2 per cent basis, while provincially backed P.G.E. bonds were being offered around on a 6 1/2 per cent basis.

"Think of it, Saanich bonds are preferred to provincially guaranteed issues," he said. Saanich had financed with no increase in the rate, in contrast to other communities which had been compelled to greatly increase their tax levy to cope with unemployment.

Touching upon proposals last year for reduction of police salaries, the Reeve said he had opposed the suggestion, unless the pay of all municipal employees was cut including teachers. Applauding the suggestion, he asked why the rate reduction had not been made into effect.

NO ROCKEFELLER AID

Reeve Crouch said the public health services had cost $16,447, of which half had been repaid from other sources, making the net cost $8,077 for the year. The Rockefeller Institute had withdrawn its subvention for preventive health work and Saanich was carrying the whole cost.

The waterworks had earned a profit of $6,000, which had been used to extend the system.

Reeve Crouch commented library services had cost nearly $4,000 last year, and stated that many houses were known to hold several tickets, but nothing could be done about it. He suggested a plebiscite be held on the question of continuing library services.

The cost of police services was $13,402, and the department had collected $9,000 in fines, taxes and licenses.

He thanked the councillors for their support during the year.

"I know the Saanich has very little support in certain quarters because we are not submerged in debt. If I am Reeve this year I shall endeavor to keep your tax rate down and avoid debt," he said.

Flatly refusing to support a fifty per cent reduction in pay of all municipal employees, as suggested from the floor, he agreed that some reduction was debatable but not to the extent suggested.

Asked if he favored payment of $4,000 annually to a medical officer, the Reeve said an expert public health officer could not be obtained for less. The whole-time officer had practically eliminated the cost of isolation hospital services, which had been around $6,000 before the appointment was made.

Asked regarding distribution of direct relief, Reeve Crouch favored more generous assistance being accorded larger families. If returned again he would see the matter was considered by the council.

COUNCILLOR HOARE

Councillor Denis Hoare, returned to office by acclamation, reviewed the management of the Ward Two road appropriation of $6,000. Repairs and patching had required $4,824, which was all the money available. Two street lights had brought the system up to twenty-three lights costing nearly $1,000 during the year.

He had tried to distribute relief work fairly during the year. A new building by-law was in preparation, designed to prevent erection of shacks and unsanitary premises in residential districts.

SAYS REEVE BLOCKED AID

Rev. M. W. J. Bruce, reeveship candidate, said he was making no promises. He believed the most important question before the ratepayers was unemployment relief, and favored a sliding scale of allowances based on the size of families. "I charge Reeve Crouch with being the cause of Saanich not receiving the government aid which she was entitled to," he said, recalling that when Senator Robertson was interviewed by distressed municipal heads seeking assistance, the attitude and views of Reeve Crouch "had shut the door in the faces of those men."

Mr. Bruce alleged Reeve Crouch had told the Federal Minister of Labor that Saanich could carry on without any increased assistance, and declared: "I charge Reeve Crouch by virtue of his own act in this regard, with being the most callous, selfish man in public office that anyone could have. He denied succor to those in need and his own municipality in times of stress."

Regarding taxation of improvements he was definitely opposed to increasing the levy on farm improvements, which come under taxation under present legislation. He considered that owners of large houses could pay more taxes if they were segregated, but believed that under the circumstances, the tax levy on improvements would not be changed by the council.

WORK OUT TAXES

Property owners lacking money should be given the opportunity of working out their taxes, if they so desired, he said, closing with assurances that politics would have no influence with him in distribution of municipal work.

He supported reduction in municipal salaries and wages, from the Reeve downward, remarking that the cost of living had fallen fifteen per cent, and Saanich might reasonably save that amount.

George Little asked "if you are going to do better than the last Reeve regarding unemployment relief, where are you going to get the money?" The candidate said a conference with the government would shortly be arranged by the Union of Municipalities for discussion of the matter. Mr. Little then commented that the matter was evidently still to be left to the Provincial and Dominion governments, his remarks arousing noisy approval.

REEVE'S APPEAL

Reeve Crouch, in his appeal for return to office, said "what has my reverend opponent ever done for the workless of Saanich, for whom his heart is bleeding? Your Reeve collected over $2,500 for needy people last year. Did you see the names on my opponent's nomination papers? Thirteen of them, an unlucky number, several of them are millionaires, eight of them were leaders in the secession movement."

The Reeve declared he would have felt himself "a quitter" to have left office in such a time of stress, and believed his record of five years to be a good platform on which to seek re-election. Challenged by Mrs. W. H. Steele regarding his claim of collection of large sums, the Reeve said he had founded the Saanich Welfare Association, started it with contributions totaling $2,000, and later collected over $1,000 more for Christmas hamper.

"Actions speak louder than words," he asserted amid an uproar.

The Reeve was questioned regarding his statement to Senator Robertson last summer. He said his later persistent campaigning at the Parliament Buildings for more money had been a factor in this effort to bring an opponent in to the field. He had obtained assurance of $125,000 for relief, but the promised aid had been repeatedly reduced. Nevertheless, the final Saanich relief work programme of $47,500 had been as large as any other similar municipality had received.

POLICE COMMISSION

Police Commissioner Charles E. King briefly appealed for re-election for a fourth term. He knew nothing of any time he would be asked to fight on the street and being severely beaten, as was charged from the floor of the meeting. Commissioner King said he was satisfied with the way the officers had performed their duties.

Lewis W. Goddard, commission candidate, said he objected to discussion of police affairs on public platforms, the correct course being to complain to the commission. He believed Saanich to be economically policed and if complaints were justified they showed the people had not elected the proper persons to the commission. Reductions in salaries would only be made if the policy was established in regard to all municipal employees.

Several complaints of bullying by police and a charge that a juvenile from the floor, whereupon Mr. Goddard said he had never heard complaints regarding officers prior to the meeting and commented "if any officer is proven to have taken off his uniform to fight, that man will have taken off his uniform for good."

SCHOOL TRUSTEES

Candidates for the school board who spoke briefly were A. E. Hull, Frank H. Partridge and John Reid. Mr. Hull recalled his experience as a trustee in 1921-22 and pledged economy, believing the cost of education was as high as the people could pay. Unneeded rooms and the auditorium of Carey at this time, he considered. He favored the abolition of "passing students into high school on recommendation, preferring that all write entrance examination papers.

Mr. Partridge said his candidature was based on a desire to give public service, believing his business experience would be valuable to the school board. Music was a helpful study in the schools and he would advocate its wider adoption. If the new Carey Road high school were to be completed, it would only be after the people had voted in support of a referendum. Supplies purchased by the board should be Canadian products, and he favored technical education if the cost were found reasonable.

Mr. Reid said many children were being given school training of no value to them in later life. He objected to employment of Victorians on the three new high schools while Saanich men were workless. School books should be supplied free of charge to the children of workless residents. If the board was unable to do so he suggested a special fund be organized for the purpose.

Railway Traffic Is Paralyzed In South Manchuria

Associated Press

Tientsin, China, Jan. 12.—Efforts of British officials to negotiate reopening of traffic on the British-operated Peiping-Mukden railway from Shan-hai-kwan to Mukden were abandoned, it was revealed yesterday.

Japanese military leaders finally stated further negotiations must be carried on at Mukden. It was believed, they had decided to deal only with Chinese officials of the line, in pursuance of their policy of placing the Shan-hai-kwan-Mukden section under control of the Manchukuo government.

Gen. Shigeru Honjo was understood to have consented to the passing of trains through the Japanese lines, but his orders either misinterpreted or misunderstood by the bridge operating west of Chinchow, which has obstructed traffic on account of military activities just off the line.

Trains from Shan-hai-kwan repeatedly have been searched by Japanese soldiers. Stories of assaults on foreign railway workers have been denied by their superiors.

A British official returning from the seat of the negotiations at Suichung-hsien reported Japanese officers were courteous but unwilling for the trains to operate.

Growing Deaf With Head Noises? Try This

If you are growing hard of hearing, and fear catarrhal deafness, or if you have roaring, rumbling, hissing noises in your ears, go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parment (double strength) and add to it 1/4 pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises, clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to take. Anyone who is threatened with catarrhal deafness or who has head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Advt.)

now builds Hudson and Essex Cars

IN CANADA

HUDSON Motor Car Company announces the formation of Hudson-Essex of Canada, Limited, a new great Canadian industrial enterprise, located at Tilbury, Ont.

Under this name Hudson and Essex cars—the two superb Pacemakers of 1932—are being manufactured on Canadian soil, by Canadian workmen, in a modern motor car plant now established and beginning operations.

This is a new Canadian large-scale operation in fact as well as in name. During the new year before us, this factory will supply the total requirements of all Hudson and Essex distributors and dealers throughout the Dominion.

Canada can thank its own motorists for this latest addition to its brilliant roll call of industries, for there are now on its far-flung highways a total of more than sixty-five thousand Hudson and Essex cars.

By this new factory in Canada, Hudson shows its appreciation of and recognizes its obligation to this vast army of owners and also expresses in a genuine and tangible way its earnest desire to become an important factor in the Dominion's future prosperity.

More than ever, in the weeks and months ahead, the people of Canada will have many good reasons to "Watch Hudson—which means Essex, too."

THROTTLING TRADE

IN ITS LATEST MONTHLY REVIEW OF general business conditions, the effect upon international trade of the present system of high tariff barriers, the Bank of Nova Scotia's economic expert has this to say in part:

With few exceptions, the trading nations have devoted themselves for a decade to the raising of their own customs barriers, and very high rates of duty have become common. So long as one market (and that the greatest in the world) still remained open, a full and general realization of the strangling effect of high tariffs upon the world's business, could be postponed. Conditions are such to-day, that it cannot be postponed much longer.

If the commerce of the world is to be revived within a reasonable time, we believe it to be necessary for the trading nations, in a spirit of mutual concession, to meet one another frankly for the discussion of this issue. They cannot at the same time, and with one accord, refuse to receive imports, and expand their own exports; for every consignment of goods between two countries is both an import and export.

The bank's review concludes with the suggestion that if Britain's National Government's decision to embark upon a modified system of protection brings her neighbors "to realize fully the consequences of the world-wide throttling of trade by high tariffs since the war," it may prove to have been an epoch-making event.

Upon this final conclusion there will be a division of opinion. It simply means, as eminent economists have told us, that still one more country has joined the other trade-throttling countries in the same business.

VANISHING EMPIRES

MAKING AN EXCAVATION IN THE heart of London for a new office building, British workmen the other day came upon some relics of the very distant past—relics of the day when London was an outpost of the Roman Empire, a provincial garrison on a distant island.

They found a number of interesting things; old Roman tools, lamps, bits of broken pottery, pings that marked the first of London river's wharves, and so on. Their finds, archaeologists say, date back to the first century of the Christian era.

Of course, the London suburb is full of such things, and there is not anything especially new or startling about this latest find. But the whole business stimulates the imagination, somehow. It makes ancient history seem real and it gives us an eerie glimpse into the future.

When those relics were first deposited there, Rome was what London is to-day; the capital of a far-flung empire, filled with tradesmen, administrators, shippers and "empire builders." Young Romans, one imagines, sailed for administrative posts in the British Isles much as young Englishmen, half a century ago, sailed for similar jobs in India. They felt that they were going to the very ends of the earth, and the placid river Thames—as Conrad points out in his "Heart of Darkness"—must have seemed as mysterious and subtly hostile as the Congo seemed to the roving young Englishmen of the last century.

It is easier to make Roman civilization seem real by drawing that parallel. The imperialism of the Caesars was, after all, very like that of Queen Victoria's day. There were far-off colonies to be developed, and Britain, which was to have colonies of its own some day, was a raw and wild land that needed cultivation.

And all of this makes one look ahead. Rome's empire has vanished, centuries ago, and her colonies have grown to ripe maturity. Will the empires of to-day, sometime, follow suit? Will British relics, dug up in Delhi—or American relics, dug up in Manila—set antiquarian memories adrift?

TWO FATEFUL CONFERENCES

THERE IS VERY MUCH IN COMMON between the conferences on disarmament and reparations scheduled to take place shortly. Both will deal with international issues which affect the economic structure of the world and therefore the whole social and political fabric of nations. Both involve a drain upon the resources of many nations which can not be endured much longer, and eminent authorities have freely predicted that unless there is a very appreciable modification of these burdens there will be a breakdown of the present national organization and administration in most of the leading countries. Such a breakdown may involve widespread revolution, certainly throughout Europe, and a fresh band of international recruits to the banner of bolshevism.

The world ought to be told very clearly just what the failure of these conferences might involve. Nothing is to be gained by trying to create the impression that nothing serious is likely to happen if the nations of the world fail to scale down their expenditures on armaments. The grim fact is that if they do not, their economic and social conditions before long will be material for a conflagration which will consume every nation in Europe. The world can not continue to spend twice as much every year on preparation for war as it spent before 1914 without eventually plunging itself into a condition much worse than war.

In contrast with the expenditure on armaments the outlay on international war debts and reparations is almost insignificant. There are many advocates of disarmament whose attitude is inspired less by the prospects of another war than by the fear of internal collapse and chaos. There are some, indeed, who see no harm in armament in itself and in other times would not bother their heads about it, but are against it now because of the fateful possibilities associated with the cost of its continuance.

OAK BAY ACCLAMATIONS

REEVE HAYWARD, COUNCILLORS Crease, Goodlake and Mearns, of Oak Bay Municipality, have every reason to be gratified that the electors of that enterprising and prosperous community did not feel it desirable to challenge their election this year. This is a most convincing assurance that their services have been considered satisfactory. The record of Mr. Hayward is unique. He is now entering upon his fifth term as the municipality's reeve and he has yet to fight his first contest for that position. The three new members of the Board of School Trustees, Messrs. Drake, Murdoch, and Roberts, also elected by acclamation, are well-known businessmen who may be counted upon to render efficient service. Once again Mr. H. L. N. Edwards will fill the office of Police Commissioner, his record evidently being considered sufficient for his election without a contest. It may not be out of place for The Times to suggest to the new school board that it transfer its business in public life to the Oak Bay municipal council. Up to this time it has not done so, and for the most part has conducted its business as a private committee. It is not necessary to emphasize the fact that a school board is just as much the trustee of the public interests as the council; the public, therefore, has every right to be present at its business meetings.

NOTING THE EFFECTS

THOSE NEWSPAPERS WHICH A YEAR or so ago were pointing to the United States as the great example of a country thriving upon high protection do not now seem to be so enamored of the results of that policy. We quote the following from a contemporary which never wearied of telling us how much greater Canada's prosperity would be if only she would follow her neighbor's lead in tariff matters:

A problem interlocked with other problems which the United States is facing in her presidential election year is the decline in her trade. For November last her exports were valued at $193,000,000, which represented a falling off of $12,000,000 from those of October, and they were $96,000,000 less than in November, 1930. Her imports for November last were $150,000,000, which represented a decrease of $69,500,000, as compared with November of last year.

In the first eleven months of last year exports of the United States were valued at $2,240,509,000, as against $3,568,324,000 in the corresponding period of 1930. Her imports in the first eleven months of 1931 were valued at $1,938,281,000, as against $2,852,272,000 for the first eleven months of 1930. Thus in total foreign trade value there has been a decline in the eleven-month period of $2,342,806,000. The balance of trade in favor of the United States in that period has declined from $716,052,000 to $302,228,000.

This is the economic situation which faces the United States in presidential election year—and it bodes no good for the Republican, or high tariff, party. It is to be noticed, too, that a change seems to be coming over the disciples of high protection in this country, a welcome change. Mr. W. H. Miner, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, is quoted as saying recently:

I would like to see our tariffs kept moderate. I believe in tariffs for revenue and for moderate protection. But they should not be built up into stone walls as they are in some high tariff countries, so that nothing can get over them, because if we do we shall become like they are—hard up with the country full of gold.

One of the interesting features of the early New Year season is the amount of advice Premier Bennett is getting from his friends. Such newspapers as The Ottawa Journal and The Montreal Star are, figuratively speaking, telling him to come down out of the clouds and face realities. They are fearful lest the Imperial Economic Conference fail because of insufficient of the give-and-take principle. Just how far Mr. Miner would advise his organization to go in the matter of tariff reduction, of course, we are not able to judge from his statement.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ON EMPIRE CURRENCY
The Manchester Guardian

It is always interesting to hear what the bankers think ought to be done to improve the national and international currency systems. Mr. Goodenough, the chairman of Barclays Bank, recently put the case for an Empire currency, and there is no apparent reason why this should conflict with a settlement of the international monetary problem.

CHRISTIAN BOOSTING ON THE AIR
The Toronto Globe

A Philadelphia Episcopal minister who protested from his pulpit that certain radio programmes cheapened Christmas made out a very good case, declares The Brantford Expositor. He pointed out that "Holy Night, Silent Night" had preceded the introduction of a hair restorer; "O Come, All Ye Faithful," had prefaced an advertisement for a beauty shop; and that "Hark! The Herald Angels Sing" was the prelude to the announcement of an undertaker. Those beautiful productions were certainly never intended for any such purpose.

A LAND OF HOPE
Bruce Bliven in The Manchester Guardian

To go from Germany to Russia in the autumn of 1931 was an extraordinary psychological experience. As I suggested recently in an article, Germany is to-day a land dominated by fear. Her people live in daily dread of a revolution, either by the Fascists or the Communists; they anticipate that their currency may at almost any moment be subjected again to involuntary and uncontrollable inflation; they have already 5,000,000 unemployed, expect this number to grow greatly during the winter, and consider the outlook for their industry to be about as dark as possible.

Russia, on the contrary, is a land of hope; it strikes you almost with the force of a blow as soon as you are across the border. Even the non-Communists share the universal belief that the worst is now over, and look forward to a future which will grow steadily brighter. There is universal testimony that a general and marked improvement (not seasonal in character) has taken place in the past few months, particularly in regard to food; and it is everywhere believed that this is but the beginning. It is true that Russia has been hard hit by the world-wide depression, which has curtailed the prices of her exports, mostly raw materials, far more than it has the cost of the machinery which is her chief present import. But it seems quite absurd to talk about Russia's "going bankrupt" on this account. On the contrary, Russia is perhaps the one country in the world which is least likely to go bankrupt, for the reason that every factor in the internal financial and economic situation is absolutely in the hands of the government.

A THOUGHT

We all do fade as a leaf—balah lah. I love everything that's old—old friends, old times, old manners, old books, old wines—Goldsmith.

Loose Ends

A great man gives his opinion on certain matters concerning which there is sufficient doubt to make a dull column.

By H. B. W.

THE OPINIONS of great men are always a comfort in these trying times. They buoy us up. They explain the past. They point to the future. They warn of pitfalls and reveal the truth. They are almost invariably wrong. A great and successful man gave me his opinion of the world situation to-day, and his opinion was full of encouragement and inspiration and boloney.

THE TROUBLE, said this great and successful man, settling himself back in his mahogany swivel chair, which was upholstered in red leather, "is that there is too much luxury in the world. People," he said, resting his pearl-grey spats on his mahogany desk, "don't live simply enough, hard enough. We need more of the rugged, pioneer spirit of our ancestors. We need," said he, lighting a cigar eleven inches long and offering one to me out of a silver box, "people who can rough it and live on $25 a month, as we used to do in my boyhood."

MANY'S the time," said he, indicating the region of his stomach, which was well covered with about ten inches of avoirdupois, "many's the time I've gone hungry—and liked it. Yes, liked it. We must get back to the simple things of life, the old-time pleasures. We have been living too soft. We must live hard again. Excuse me for a moment," said he, ringing for his secretary, "I am going east tonight. I must order a drawing-room on the Imperial Limited. And now, if you like, we'll go over to the club and discuss the economic situation over a cocktail or two. And after that perhaps a round of golf. Yes, we have got to get down to bedrock again, down to Spartan simplicity. Ring for my car, Miss Jones. If anyone calls, say I'm in conference for the rest of the day. Now, as I was saying, we have got to get down to bedrock."

I hurried away so that I might record the valuable views of a great and successful man before I forgot them. Almost all the great and successful men I know hold the same views, so I suppose it must be correct. We must get down to something or other.

DO NOT MISTAKE me. Do not imagine that I am against getting down to normal. I got down to normal several years before the bull market, before anyone had ever heard of normal, and never left it. But what intrigues me in all the present discussion about getting down to normal is just this—what is normal? What is the true norm of our civilization? How far have we got to reduce our scale of living? A lot of loose thinkers and the higher spheres of politics and finance are particularly loose—hold that, according to sound economics, the majority of us must become poor before the world can become rich; a majority of us must give up what we have been accustomed to in order that a few may retain their unwholesome luxuries. They hold, in brief, that sound economics will force the world to have and use less property, less wealth and less things.

FOR A WHILE I agree, we are going to have less; a lot of people have less already. But that is not because of sound economics. It is because of the most unsound economics imaginable. In a world with unlimited productive power, everybody could have as much as he wanted of everything, if only our economies were sound. If we could distribute as cleverly as we produce. But a few favored classes or a few favored nations can't have all they want of everything while other classes and other nations have hardly the necessities of life. That is the lesson we haven't learned yet. That is the unsoundness of our economies. That is why we have got to give up things.

HOWEVER, that was not what I was intending to say at all, for I have no interest in these economic questions. It bores me to write about them almost as much as it bores you to read about them. What I was going to say was that this readjustment, this getting down to something or other, is not going to be as painful as a lot of people think. Because, while there is no term in our economic system, no limit to our possible wealth, there is a norm in the human system, though it has been forgotten and ignored these many years. There is a point of saturation in the human spirit. There is a place where luxury palls and things fail to satisfy. There is a maximum of sensation and excitement which the human animal can absorb and retain in his health and sanity. That is why most men get far more pleasure out of a hunting trip in the woods, more permanent satisfaction in a garden or a fishing pole than from all the expensive amusements of civilization for which they toil all their lives. As a race of animals we haven't been out of the jungle long enough to enjoy all the wealth which the machine can produce without going to the dogs. We are still very primitive creatures. A simpler life than we have been living undoubtedly is normal for us, according to laws much more important than the laws of economics. Because it is more normal I don't think anyone, provided he has a reasonable supply of life's needs, is going to suffer by getting down to this new something or other. I think things are going to be a lot better than most people imagine.

I SEE, by the way, that His Honor Judge Lampman's ideas seem to move more or less along the same track. He has handed down a judgment which holds that the human Animal is not fit to drive an automobile. He has not been out of the jungle long enough, the judge declares, to travel at a high rate of speed without losing all sense of responsibility. I have long held the same view, and it is comforting to have the courts on one side. On the only occasion on which I have appeared before them, they were against me to the extent of $20.

HOWEVER, the problem goes much further than automobiles. We are committed not only to allowing anyone to drive a high-powered engine of destruction along our roads but we are committed to a much more sweeping experiment. We have not only placed our automobiles in the hands of anyone who cares to drive them. We have placed our franchise, our government, our economic system, our entire civilization in the same hands. It is an experiment to which we are completely committed, and I have no objection to offer, though, privately, Plato and some others have had some doubts about the final outcome of it for a long time. We are committed to the theory that one man can do anything as well as any other man, and should be allowed to do it anyway. It is a pretty poor theory, but the best we have been able to develop so far. We are evidently going to drive our automobiles and our civilization to the common danger for quite a while yet, or I am going to be able to do much about it.

Twenty-five Years Ago To-day

The Victoria Daily Times, January 12, 1907

From the Times Files
Dr. J. H. King was unanimously nominated Tuesday evening at the North hall, Cranbrook, by the largest attended Liberal convention ever held in East Kootenay. Nearly every voting precinct was represented by two or more delegates, and these delegates occupied the front seats which had been reserved for them.

Two new telegraph huts are to be erected between Glenora and Pachena Point. They will be occupied by men whose duty it will be to patrol the coast line between their stations and those next along the seaboard.

Weather Forecast—Victoria and vicinity—Northerly and easterly winds, generally fair and cold.

Steamer Queen City arrived yesterday, coming from Kyquart and way ports on the West Coast of Vancouver Island. She reports the finding of a wooden tank from a sailing ship with no mark of identification on it. There is reason to believe that it may be part of the abandoned ship Queen Admiral.

The Songhees Reserve question, compulsory pilotage fees, the coasting regulations and the loss of mail in transit to the Old Country were the chief subjects discussed at the regular quarterly meeting of the Victoria Board of Trade held yesterday.

Undoubtedly the "hottest" meeting so far held in the mayoralty campaign was that which took place yesterday evening in Temple's Hall, Victoria West. After addresses had been given by R. Marchant and T. W. Pearson, with little or no interruption, the appearance of Alderman Stewart on the platform was the signal for a running fire of interruptions and interpellations from Mayor Morley, who seated in the back of the room, hurled abuse at the speaker until he was forced to rely in a somewhat similar strain.

USES RUBBER STAMP

Vancouver, Jan. 12.—Because of Mayor Louis D. Taylor's inability to use his hands, the city council yesterday authorized him to "impress" his signature with a rubber stamp on civic documents. The impressions will be attested by his secretary, George Fitch. "It will not be for long," said the mayor, "I shall be writing again soon."

Other People's Views

A SUGGESTION

To the Editor:—Would you please allow me a little space in your paper, concerning the wage dispute that you talk about. If they don't want their wages cut my suggestion is that Mr. Mayor, for example, take 50 per cent of his salary and buy in each month the reverted loaf; also let the council, firemen, teachers and all the employees do the same.

You wouldn't hear the cry of the taxes going up if the city officials would adopt this system. The land is surely worth something the way you cut it, so you won't be losing your money.

DOCTORS AND HEALERS

To the Editor:—Why do the drugless healers and the medical doctors seem to be quarrelling? My five years' experience with them is as follows: I first went to a medical doctor and received a large and sore arm which a drugless healer cured. I stayed with the drugless healer about six months, then by luck met a very good and reasonable medical doctor who got me to walk and in fairly healthy condition. I then went back to business again, when I lost the use of my legs completely. I returned to the last-mentioned doctor who got me to walk fairly well with a cane.

I was then advised to go to several other drugless healers and doctors, which I did but didn't get proper results. I then tried another doctor who pretended to know my case and have been sorry for it ever since. He made me go to the hospital and I believe he has made an incurable of me now. I have left the said doctor. If he gets his patients by making them believe he knows their cases and experiments on them, I don't envy them.

I have returned to the doctor who once put me on my feet, and who has done the most for me with best results. He is very kind and quiet, but doesn't try to make one believe he knows his case and makes a failure of it. That is, as far as I know in my long experience with him.

LET'S HAVE MORE OF IT

To the Editor:—I am glad to see that Hon. Canon Hinchliffe has at last made a start of using "God Save the King" in our public schools. I have often wondered why our schools have lagged so far behind some other institutions. I have been pleasantly surprised on attending a number of theatrical performances during recent months to note that "God Save the King" has been played twice by the orchestra—once at the opening of the performance and again at the end. I fear some theatre managers here have been using "God Save the King" merely as a signal to the audience that the show was over and it was time for them to depart for their homes. In this manner of use, it has supplanted the "Good Night" slides that used to be thrown on the screens in the earlier days of the cinema at home. Our school authorities should not have lagged so far behind our patriotic theatre managers. It is a beautiful thing for us to know that our children now begin their day's work at school by singing "God Save the King," and I am certain there are others who feel as I do and would like to think of them closing each day's work with the singing of "God Save the King." I think our radio people should also follow the good example of the theatre managers and introduce and conclude their programmes with "God Save the King." Perhaps a suggestion from the minister would induce them to adopt this suggestion. Beneficial results might also be secured with a number of public organizations, which, in my experience, have been backward in making use of "God Save the King." I am one who believes we cannot have enough of it in these times of great stress. I always have a feeling that it helps us so much to face our difficulties.

The general good and interest of our city do not weigh very heavy upon us, and we just cannot be bothered. So now why do we complain? Surely it is up to us to take an interest and do something better than one man who said he joined every organization he could in order to be elected this time (he was). This shows plainly what is killing the true spirit of citizenship.

ALICE McCREGOR.

THE CAUSE OF IT ALL

To the Editor:—According to The Seattle P.-I. of January 3, Senator Borah seems irritated because "Europe would saddle debts on United States." Perhaps Mr. Borah, as well as the whole world, would have less nervousness and economic convulsions to-day if they had heeded "the appeal to reason and its staff of agitators" two or three decades ago.

Now that the capitalists have "governed" us into the present collapse, take your medicine like a good sport, Mr. Borah. You cannot take flesh from a stone, nor can mass production operate without markets.

The United States as well as the capitalist system is under the "saddle" and staggers under the load! Federal, state, county, municipal and private debts the world over are beyond payment!

Taxation exceeding 7 per cent, when the world's capacity of production over consumption is less than 4 per cent, is the impasse we have arrived at!

Distribution of 15 per cent of the values created by labor in the wage bill cannot buy back 100 per cent of the product! The surplus cannot be sold. Hence the present economic collapse!

Mr. Borah also informs us that "no body doubts the foresight or wisdom of these bankers."

I wonder just when, since Tom Lawson wrote "Frenzied Finance" and "The History of American Wealth" did financiers retrieve their reputation? Is the reputation of imperial ambitions to meet the same fate?

Politicians' integrity may be at stake, but let us hope that the appeal to reason may yet be heard.

Humanity first and 7 per cent from 4 per cent when we all have the comforts of life!

A. HALLBERG.

"I was troubled with pimples on my face. They were large and soft and itched at times, causing me to scratch. Scratching caused eruptions and sometimes I could not sleep on account of the irritation. They lasted quite a while and I tried different remedies but they did not help me.

"I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and got relief in a week's time, and in about a week and a half I was completely healed."

SUPPORT PROTEST AGAINST CENSUS RETURNS IN CITY

Sympathy with the criticism of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce against the figures published in the last census regarding the population of the city was expressed in letters from the boards of trade of Niagara, Montreal, St. John and Hamilton, it was reported at the meeting of the directors of the Victoria Chamber yesterday.

The letter from St. John reported a great discrepancy between actual population and census figures in Saskatoon some years ago and referred to other cases in which the government had announced incorrect data. It was also claimed that many of the census takers claimed in faulty reports.

The letters were answers to circular sent out by the Victoria Chamber correcting the impression conveyed in the last census report that Victoria has shrunk in population.

The chamber moved that the information secured from the various chambers of commerce be referred to D. B. Plunkett, federal member for Victoria, to take up at Ottawa at the next session of the Dominion House.

CLAIMS EXITS NOT ADEQUATE

A question regarding the adequacy of exits at the Shrine Hall for a large crowd in case of an alarm was raised before the City Council yesterday evening by A. W. G. Dod, who suggested something be done.

The city building inspector reported the main trouble was caused by seating arrangements at the hall and said he had written to the management advising them on suggested changes.

Mr. Dod will be informed to this effect and the fire warden committee of the council will investigate.

ISLAND MAYORS ARE RETURNED WITHOUT VOTE

Nanaimo, Duncan, Cumberland, Alberni, Ladysmith, N. Cowichan Give Acclamations

Port Alberni Will Be the Scene of Four-cornered Mayoralty Fight

Acclamations were general yesterday in up-island municipalities. Ald. John Barry is mayor-elect of Nanaimo, there being no opposition to him with the retirement of Mayor Hall.

The city of Duncan retained Harold F. Provost as its mayor. Mayor A. Maxwell of Cumberland starts his sixth term in the office.

James Motion of Alberni gets another term as mayor.

Ladysmith retained Mayor Joseph Mason by acclamation. In the municipality of North Cowichan, Gerald A. Tisdall has been re-elected for another year.

Port Alberni plumped for an election with a vengeance by nominating four citizens for the mayor's chair, these being John Kendall, the present incumbent; James Marsh, Ald. E. A. D. Jones and Ald. Arthur Turner.

Courtenay will also put on an election contest with Ald. A. B. Ball and Charles Simms, a former mayor, seeking office.

"OF COURSE I'LL GO—my cold is much better"

..this safe gargle reduces duration 66%

Tests show that colds which would ordinarily last 9 days vanish in 3 days

One woman—cold gone—up and about, and full of pep at the end of three days. . . . Another woman sniffing, sneezing, and miserable for a week or more.

Why is it? Has one greater natural powers of resistance than the other? Sometimes yes. But more often it is because one takes constant precautions against colds and sore throat, while the other does not. One realizes that the mouth and throat are germ-breeding areas that need constant cleansing. The other doesn't realize it, or doesn't care.

Mild Colds Instead of Severe

Clinical tests, made under medical supervision, reveal this remarkable truth: That persons who gargled with full strength Listerine twice a day contracted from 3/4 to 3/8 as many colds as those who did not gargle with it. In short, a reduction of from 50% to 66% in the number of colds.

When Listerine users did contract colds, they lasted only 1/2 as long as colds contracted by non-users, and were 1/4 as severe. Similar tests now in progress, involving the examination of several hundred persons, reveal substantially the same results.

In view of the facts, Listerine should be regarded as a primary aid in safeguarding health. At no time is it offered as a substitute for the family physician.

Listerine is Safe

That Listerine accomplishes such results is due to two factors:

First: Its power to destroy germs in the fastest time and reduce mouth bacteria 98%.

Second: Its safe, healing action on tissue. Listerine is non-poisonous and non-irritating.

Because of these qualities, Listerine has won the endorsement of the Lancet of London, world's foremost medical journal. It is the highest compliment that can be paid a mouth wash.

The Certain Remedy for Halitosis

Keep Listerine handy in home and office and carry it with you when you travel. Use it full strength at least twice a day. Thus you guard against infection, reduce the risk of illness, and automatically assure yourself that your breath is beyond reproach. Listerine, as you know, is the swiftest deodorant and surest remedy for halitosis (unpleasant breath). Lambert Pharmacal Co., Toronto, Ont.

BARITONE IS GUEST ARTIST

Ernest Caldwell to Appear With Victoria Ladies' Choir on Friday Night

Ernest Caldwell, eminent Canadian baritone, will be presented for the first time to a Victoria audience by the Victoria ladies' choir at the Shrine Auditorium on Friday evening. Mr. Caldwell has a very high reputation in concert, oratorio and recital work.

The reputation of being one of Canada's leading artists has been established by Mr. Caldwell in Eastern Canada, as well as in the west. Hector Charlesworth, in The Toronto Saturday Night, says: "Ernest Caldwell is one of the best of Canadian baritones and his voice is of only fine quality, but notable in range and flexibility and his diction is excellent." The Calgary Herald says: "He was well-combined with Mr. Caldwell."

His baritone voice of round, rich timbre and wide range, and sings with resonant tones most effective. The United States critics have also listened with pleasure to Mr. Caldwell. The Seattle Times speaks of him as "a rare interpreter of song, with a baritone voice of wide range under admirable control."

Mr. Caldwell has chosen an excellent group of songs for his appearance in Victoria. His first group will consist of "My Mythen and Rosen," by Robert Schuman, and "Desire," by Henri Duparc. In his second group he will sing "The Jealous Lover" and "I Dare Not Ask a Kiss," both by Cyril Scott. For his third group he will sing "Gay Vagabond," by Alfred Bruneau, "Song of Jami," by William Doherty, and "The Elf King," by Davies.

In the absence of the regent, the chair was occupied by Mrs. F. R. Wright, vice-regent. The members heard with much regret of the passing of Miss Belsom, at one time Esquimalt secretary to the chapter, and a standing vote of sympathy with Col. W. H. Belsom and family was given.

The educational secretary announced that fifty-nine calendars had been disposed of. Suggestions for work for the coming season were discussed. An invitation to hold the annual meeting on Monday, February 1, at the residence of the regent was accepted with much pleasure.

Ask for Legal Sterilization of Feeble-minded

Council Women Endorse Request for Legislation Made by Westminster Body

The Local Council of Women endorsed two resolutions, sponsored by affiliated societies, one asking for legislation to authorize the sterilization of the mentally unfit, the other seeking legislation to enable those constituencies which have been pariahs to hold a referendum for their removal, at their meeting held yesterday afternoon, Miss Crease presiding.

FEIBLE-MINDED PROBLEM—The Local Council of New Westminster sought the Victoria women's endorsement of the following resolution: "Whereas the increase of feeble-minded in our province has been most alarming of late, causing not only distress to friends and relatives, but constituting a menace to the public safety, and whereas the sterilization of the feeble-minded has been proven to be one of the most effective means of combating this menace; be it resolved that the Local Council of Women of New Westminster petition the government to frame a bill at the sitting of the House similar to the Sex Sterilization Act of Alberta, making the sterilization of the mentally unfit lawful."

The subject, described by Miss Crease as a "hardy perennial," has been frequently discussed in the council and a number of the members joined in the discussion yesterday afternoon, the resolution being endorsed with only one dissentient. COUNCIL OF WOMEN.—The meeting also endorsed the resolution passed by the Central W.C.T.U. at its meeting the other day, as follows: "Whereas the recent decision to deny Esquimalt the privilege of holding a referendum on the question of whether it shall or shall not continue to have beer parlors, appears to be contrary to the spirit of British justice, be it resolved that the council and its members be requested to grant the same privilege to wet constituencies of deciding whether they shall or shall not have beer parlors as is now the case pursuant to provisions of the Liquor Control Plebiscite Act R.S.B.C. 1925."

Plans were made for the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women to be held on Thursday and Friday, February 11 and 12, in the New Thought Hall if that hall is available. Mrs. J. W. Gibson, president, and Mrs. A. E. Hopkins will have charge of the seating arrangements and Mrs. C. R. Little of the tea. Mrs. Gibson, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Hopkins were appointed delegates to the provincial annual meeting. Mrs. J. H. Holmes gave an interesting report of the women's work.

Plan Gymkhana For Benefit of Workroom Fund

Women's Workroom Committee Accept Offer of Local Equestrians for February 26

Further Donations of Old and New Materials Needed For Making Up

The women's workroom committee at its meeting held yesterday evening at the Y.W.C.A., with Mrs. Arthur Walsh in the chair, gratefully accepted the kind offer of Mrs. Dugald Gillespie and Col. H. C. Greer and their committee to stage a gymkhana at the Horse Show Building at the Wilfrids on February 26 in aid of the workroom funds. The offer was brought to the attention of the general meeting by Miss Wigley, chairman of the finance committee which had met Mrs. Gillespie and discussed the details of the proposed entertainment, in which a number of the city's leading horsewomen and horsemen will take part.

DONATIONS NEEDED—Miss Macrae, the treasurer, presented her report, showing a balance of about $700 in hand. With about $50 per day being expended in wages to the women, there is a constant drain on the resources and Mrs. A. H. Pease, for the administration committee, appealed for more donations of old and new materials to be made up in the workroom. Such donations will be very gladly welcomed at the workroom.

During the meeting, Mrs. Pease displayed a number of samples of work carried out in the workroom, including charming quilted pillows, covers and purses, as well as dainty spun silk lingerie, ornamental butcheries and similar articles, all the products of the workroom.

WORKERS ENTERTAINED—The committee listened with much interest to Mrs. Pease's report of the Christmas tea given to the workers on December 21, through the kindness of Mrs. Don Cameron, who supplied the delicious tea, sandwiches and cakes, and the many kind friends who also contributed cakes and other dainties. Those who have been most attractively decorated, and after tea the women enjoyed community songs. Spontaneous votes of thanks were tendered by two of the women to Mrs. Cameron and the many friends who helped with the serving of the tea, the afternoon constituting an unexpected and much-appreciated little festivity for the workers.

BEGIN FUND-GROWING—Miss Fitzgibbon, convener of the "Fun Fund" boxes, stated that out of the 100 boxes distributed, forty-one had been turned in, their contents totaling the gratifying sum of over $100. Those who have boxes and have not yet turned them in are requested to hold them until the end of January, as in future collections will be made every two weeks. Mrs. Fitzgibbon also pointed out that only the contents of the boxes, not the boxes themselves, should be handed in to Miss Macrae, the treasurer, at the B.C. Convention, thus christening the necessity of redistributing all the empty boxes.

SECOND PAID WORKER—The general committee endorsed the recommendation of the administration committee to employ a second paid worker to assist the present supervisor. While the committee went on record in warm and sincere appreciation of the valuable services of the volunteer workers who have been assisting in the secretarial work, it was recognized that such volunteer help was, of necessity, rather uncertain, and it was felt expedient to insure continuous assistance for the supervisor.

The committee accepted with much regret the resignation of Mrs. Denton Holmes from the convener of the work and materials committee. Mrs. Holmes, who is leaving shortly for an extended visit to England, was warmly thanked for her untiring and devoted services to the cause of the workroom, in which she has been an indefatigable worker.

GUIDE CAMPING TO BE TAUGHT IN LOCAL COURSE—A course of instruction in camping will be given by Miss Hilda Leighton, provincial camp adviser, at headquarters, Langley Street, on alternate Monday evenings at 8 p.m. It was announced at the meeting of the local executive of Girl Guides held yesterday afternoon. The course will begin on Monday, January 18, and Mrs. Alan Morrell, provincial commissioner, has promised to be present and address the meeting.

District commissioners' reports showed that the companies are reassembling after the holidays. Mrs. L. A. Genge had given a commissionaire's party on the occasion of the flying-up of three Brownies, the Genges head nurse of the V.O.N., every other Monday at the Institute rooms, 303 Union Building. The class, which will be of half an hour's duration only, will commence on Monday evening, January 18, at 7.30 o'clock. Any woman over eighteen years of age may join and the class is free of charge.

Jubilee Hospital W.A.—The regular sewing meeting of the Jubilee Hospital W.A. will be held to-morrow afternoon in the Nurses' Home, at 2 o'clock.

Mrs. Kyrie Symonds, Mrs. Stewart Williams, Mrs. Watts and Miss Macmillan were appointed delegates to the annual meeting of the Local Council of Women. The sum of $15 was voted towards the upkeep of the provincial office.

The annual meeting and election of officers will be held early in February. Guiders of companies and packs will give concise reports of the year's work.

WORK FOR CAMP INMATES SOUGHT
Provincial Government Hopes to Use Idle Men in B.C. on Road Work

Hopes are held out by the Provincial Government of securing federal approval to a plan which will provide for the resumption of road work by men in government unemployment camps so that men now idle may be employed and receive small monthly payments for their work.

It is hoped that federal approval of the scheme may be forthcoming with the return of Premier Bennett to Ottawa. The plan under consideration provides for a small monthly payment to the camp inmates, in addition to their board, in return for which they would resume road work. In this way the government would be able to do a great deal of necessary road work, which otherwise could not be undertaken with available funds.

5 lbs. OF FAT GONE

Rheumatism Went With It

A threefold benefit came to this man when he lost unwanted fat. Up to a few months ago I was very troubled with rheumatism. My legs were getting so swollen that I could not walk. I was then 150 lbs. which is a great deal, seeing I am only 5 ft. 3 inches in height. I thought I would try Kruschen, although I did not then believe it would reduce weight, but I thought it would perhaps ease the pain. I took half-a-teaspoon in a tumbler of hot water each morning, and to my great delight I began to lose weight, also pain. This week I was weighed and was 130 lbs. which I think is proof positive. My legs are all aching now what I am used to lose weight, so it is very noticeable. Also I look and feel a lot better in health.—Mrs. M. H.

The six salts in Kruschen assist the internal organs to throw off each day a waste and poisons that encumber the system. Then, little by little, that fat goes slowly, yes—but surely, the pains of rheumatism and neuritis ease. You feel wonderfully healthy, cheerful and energetic more so than ever before in your life! ## Ladder Troubles Bother Many Past 40

Even Out of Ten Are Victims But Writer Tells How "Uratabs" Bring Swift, Amazing Relief With Renewed Vital Force

No one knows better than I the horror of days and sleepless nights. There have been times when I felt hopeless and when my weakness caused me the most intense humiliation. One day who have gone through such tortures possibly realize my great satisfaction in Dr. Southworth's URATABS brought quick relief. URATABS are truly wonderful and I give them full praise. Such evidence serves as convincing proof of the power of URATABS in relieving distressing ailments so often a handicap to those in middle life.

Overworked, sluggish kidneys and blood, weakness, bring on so many distressing ailments which so often lead to serious cases that every sufferer from Lumbago, back and down through spine, frequent urination, "getting-up" habit, nervous irritability and lack of sleep—should try the amazing value of Southworth's URATABS at once.

Any good druggist will supply you on a guarantee of satisfaction or money back. (Adv.)

A 14 per cent premium is now allowed on United States money orders issued in Canada. It was stated by George I. Warren, managing secretary of the Chamber of Commerce at the Victoria luncheon yesterday. The thing had been made about one week after complaints had been received from Canadians who objected to being charged a percentage on money orders sent to the United States without securing a premium on money orders in that country.

Women Doing Splendid Work In Astronomy

Dr. Helen Hogg Tells Business Club of Contemporary Women Scientists

As long ago as 1880 the Observatory at Harvard College had ten or fifteen women on its staff. To-day the number has been increased until there are now between forty and fifty women astronomers on the staff, though some of them are only part-time workers.

This was one of the many interesting statements made by Mrs. Helen Hogg, Ph.D., late of Harvard and Mount Holyoke Observatories, who, with her husband, is engaged in astronomical research work at the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory at Little Seaside Mountain, before the Victoria Business and Professional Women's Club yesterday evening. Speaking on "The Work of Contemporary Women Astronomers," Dr. Hogg recalled the outstanding contributions made to astronomical science by women.

One of the most noted woman astronomers of the day, according to the speaker, is Miss Annie Cannon, who has been at Harvard Observatory for forty years, and who was awarded the much-coveted gold medal of the American Association of Arts and Sciences in recognition of her work. In the stellar spectra, Miss Cannon has classified thousands of stars into about eighty different subdivisions and has catalogued them. On one plate alone she classified 3,000 stars.

Another important phase of women's work was in the variable stars, those stars whose light varies periodically. Dr. Hogg explained how the distance and light of a star was determined with the assistance of charts and diagrams. Over 4,000 of these variable stars had been discovered by the women at Harvard. It was in this particular phase of astronomical observation that Miss Leavitt of Harvard had achieved renown. Twenty-five years ago Miss Leavitt had found the period luminosity relation for the Cepheid variables, which had enabled the astronomical distances of millions of stars to be measured to-day.

ONLY WOMAN RESEARCH DIRECTOR

Mrs. Margaret Harwood of the Maria Mitchell Observatory in Nantucket, United States, had the distinction of being the only director of a research observatory in the world, according to the speaker.

Dr. Hogg illustrated her address with a series of unusually beautiful slides, showing the structure of the Milky Way system with its planetary nebulae, all of the slides being made from plates obtained by women astronomers.

Mrs. E. G. Maynard, the president, was in the chair and thanked the speaker for her illuminating address, which was followed with rapid fire by Dr. Hogg's supper Miss Bishop, accompanied at the piano by Miss Heale, sang very charmingly "Goin' Home" and "Song of the South."

The annual meeting will be held on January 25, and an invitation was read to members from Seattle club to attend a gathering on January 28. A number of guests were welcomed at the meeting.

Luxton

The old-time and Scotch dance on Friday evening promises to be the most popular dance of the season. Pipe-Major Wishart will play for the solo numbers in the Highland dancing. Finner's three-piece orchestra will be in attendance.

Bridge will be played, commencing at 8 p.m., with dancing from 9 to 11, and refreshments will be served.

Jas. Clark of St. Sacramento Valley was a week-end visitor with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Clark, "Woodside Cottage."

Saturday evening's fixture in Luxton Hall gave the Happy Valley Intermediate boys' team the second place in the Sanborn and Suburbs Basketball League. They are now tied with Royal Oak, having won with a score of 26 to 22 against the Lake Hill Boys' Intermediate "A" team.

The visiting girls' team, the Lake Hill Intermediates, defeated the Happy Valley team with a score of 25 to 12. "Bum" Tubman acted as referee.

The hall was well filled with spectators who enjoyed the dancing which followed the games. Freddy Mould's orchestra supplied the music.

Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Baxter, "Deerfoot Lodge," entertained the Bridge Club Monday evening, when five tables were in play. W. Savory won the prize for the highest score.

SAYS SOAP AND WATER ARE FINEST COSMETICS

New York, Jan. 12.—Ordinary soap and water are the best aids to beauty, according to Madame Martine Maubret, French beauty specialist, visiting here.

They are the only agents that can actually clean the skin, Madame Maubret said.

Cosmetics and the beautification of women are surrounded by hokum and often flagrant harm, she added.

Christmas Exchange Was Run At Low Cost of $25.85

Clearing House for Christmas Charity Recorded 1,245 Families and Saved Duplication in 355 Cases, Report Shows; Forty-one Organizations Used the Exchange With Excellent Results

The Christmas Exchange had the names of 1,245 families recorded on its files and was instrumental in preventing duplication of 355 of these families, this result being achieved through the co-operation of the forty-one organizations which made use of this central agency in the handling of their Christmas cheer distribution. The total cost of the exchange for its three weeks of operation was only $25.85, this including the cost of the telephone and all supplies.

This very gratifying report of the operation of the Christmas Exchange was presented by William Crouch, the chairman, at the winding up meeting of the exchange committee this morning, and fully justified the establishment of a central bureau as a clearing house for charitable work. Special voices of thanks were passed to Miss Violet H. Wilson, who voluntarily gave her services from December 7 to December 31, assuming the entire charge and responsibility with most businesslike efficiency to J. A. Bayard for kindly giving the use of the office free of charge, to Capt. F. C. L. Money of the Army and Navy Veterans, and to the Social Service League for a donation of $20.

EXPENSES LOW

Miss Wilson made several valuable suggestions for the more efficient working of the exchange next year, which will receive consideration.

The chairman, Wm. Crouch, submitted the following itemized statement of the expenditure involved in the operation of the exchange: Carting charge for furniture to office, $1.25; each a key to office, 35c; stamps, $2.70; notebooks, pencils, carbon paper, etc., $1.20; mimeographing 100 circular letters, $2.35; Christmas gift to stenographer (cards), $10.00; carting charge, returning of furniture, $1.00; Digsons Ltd., account for sundries, $7.10. Total, $25.85.

Charles F. Banfield Re-elected President; G. A. A. Hebben Speaks

Charles F. Banfield, clerk's printer, was re-elected president of the Victoria Club of Printing House Craftsmen at a well-attended annual meeting in the Conservative rooms, Campbell Building, yesterday evening.

Other officers who will look after the affairs during the year will be G. S. Carr, vice-president; Alex. Swainson, S. Lance Wilson, Fred H. Larsen and H. J. Jealousy, board of governors, and J. F. Wilson, re-elected editor.

The president reviewed the activities of the club during the last year. It was pointed out that the Victoria organization, though the youngest of craftsmen's clubs, had forged ahead of older ones, and had experienced a most successful year.

"Salute of Printing" was the title of an address given by G. A. A. Hebben. The talk proved of vital interest to all present and to prospects for printing in Victoria. Mr. Hebben described how printing of the highest quality was being done in Victoria, claiming work of eastern houses showed no improvement on local work.

HOME PRODUCTS FAIR PLANNED

The home products fair committee of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, in co-operation with other groups of the organization, and the Junior Chamber, will start negotiations for a Home Products fair during the spring, according to a motion passed by the directors at their luncheon yesterday.

Speaking on the possibility of holding the event James Parfitt, vice-president, stated previous shows of that nature had been financially successful.

Painting and printing firms had shown considerable interest in the move. He suggested the chamber co-operate with the Junior body in holding the event some time in April in order to present Victoria-made goods to the citizens.

R. H. Ker forwarded the suggestion that the chamber also seek the co-operation of the City Council, mentioning the fact that Mayor Leeming had voiced his interest in the proposal during his civic election campaign.

Mme. Lupescu, Prince Nicholas Join In Protest

Tell Rumanian Political Leaders King Carol Dominated By Clique

Prince Threatens To Leave the Country With His Morganatic Wife

London, Jan. 12.—(Fifteen-haired King) Mme. Lupescu, companion of King Carol during his exile in Paris, reports from private sources to-day said, was named as one of the principal figures in a plot to overthrow the Rumanian political leaders by Prince Nicholas in which the Prince charged his royal brother's actions were being controlled by a clique.

At the same time, the reports said, Prince Nicholas announced he has no intention of giving up his bride, the former Mrs. Jans Lucia Delet, in spite of King Carol's reported denunciations of the marriage, and that he intended soon to leave Rumania with her, reports said.

The report said Prince Nicholas called separately Dr. Nicholas Lup, J. G. Duka and Jon Mihaila, leaders of the Peasants' Liberal and National Peasants' Parties, respectively, and told them they must "act and act quickly, in accordance with your duty to the country, the king and the dynasty to break up the clique."

TOOL OF CLIQUE

He said he had done his utmost to make King Carol see reason and refused longer to be a tool of the clique, but it was without avail. Therefore, he said, he was forced to break off relations with his brother and leave with his wife. "Whether I'll ever come back I don't know," he is reported to have said.

"It is time now," he said, according to the report, "for the political leaders to take a strong hand. What Carol will not do of his own conviction and will he must do, if necessary, under compulsion, threat and fear."

The leaders listened in amazement, according to the report, but indicated that they viewed his action in respect to Carol in the most serious light they were not inclined to believe the situation as dark as he pictured it.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRD

NAGGING MOTHER ACCOMPLISHES NO MORE THAN NAGGING WIFE

There is every reason why good habits should become so automatic that a child need never waste time over preliminary thinking, but simply performs them. The adult knows the value of good habits, but she often fails to teach them to the child. All habits can be taught easily and pleasantly simply by performing them day after day in accordance with the child's needs. The mother who fails to teach her child to do them. Soon the child expects them, then anticipates them, and eventually takes the responsibility upon himself.

I have never found that any habit was more quickly solidified by punishment for failure to perform it, and no obedient mother has ever discovered it, either.

TOILET TRAINING

The matter of toilet habits is most important when we take the child to the bathroom regularly, without talk, shaming, scolding, or, in fact, comment of any kind. This is simply a ceremony which must be stated in the child's mind. Eventually the child recognizes his inevitability and shows his growing power and intelligence by being able to appraise his mother in accordance with his needs. He cannot become articulate in this particular nearly so quickly as he can perform the act upon the behest of the mother.

The mother should not expect that because a child knows what she wants him to do, he is also old enough to tell her in advance.

The less scolding, the less drama surrounding the training toward dryness and cleanliness, the more quickly will the child respond satisfactorily. My leaflet, "Training for Good Toilet Habits," will be helpful to mothers who are in the midst of this training. If you wish to obtain a copy, send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

MEALTIME CEREMONIES

Children enjoy little ceremonies connected with their meals. These ceremonies should all be done every day in exactly the same way, so that the habits form naturally. The child of which leads naturally to the next one. First going to toilet, washing face and hands, pulling out the chair, adjusting the bib or napkin, and waiting expectantly to be served, form a series of ceremonies, none of which should ever be forgotten. If the mother slips up on even one link in the chain, she advertises to the child that it isn't as important as she has led him to believe. He isn't going to be so eager to perform it thereafter.

A child likes to do things for himself unless his mother is the dominating type who insists on doing them for him. The younger he is, the more eagerly he strains to do everything he sees done. During this period of eagerness to be self-reliant habits are most easily formed.

During the equally natural period when the child has grown slightly bored about everything and goes back to being a baby again, the mother has to go on repeating the acts, seeing that the child carries them through, so that they again become habits. She does this not by scolding and nagging for failure to perform them, but simply by taking the child by the hand and seeing that he does what he is told.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

By SISTER MARY

When strict economy is an urgent necessity, many of us hesitate to use eggs in our every day desserts. Frequently an egg dessert is not wanted because of its high protein content and because it disturbs the proper "balance" of the meal. Naturally the part the dessert must play determines whether an eggless pudding can take the place of one rich with eggs.

The pudding that is needed to furnish bulk and sugar to a menu rich in concentrated protein is quite as satisfactory from a dietetic standpoint if made without eggs. However, if the meat course is light, with meat used chiefly for "flavor," a pudding made with eggs is necessary to build up the meal and make up the lacking protein.

This thought must be uppermost when meals are planned if a nutritious and economical diet is maintained.

There are various types of puddings that are exceedingly palatable, made without eggs. Hot, cold, steamed and baked—the cooks' choice is wide.

Eggless custard puddings are especially good in cold weather. Their spicy aroma is appetizing and welcoming, while the custard itself has the virtue of being an easily digested fat as well as a cheap one.

A tapioca pudding made with raisins, citron, nutmeg and currant jelly is deliciously spiced to make it pleasantly palatable. This pudding is chilled before serving and is suitable to serve with pork.

CUMBERLAND PUDDING

One cup grated raw carrot, 1 cup grated raw potato, 1 cup brown sugar, 1/2 cup chopped suet, 1/2 cup cleaned raisins, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 1/2 cup shredded citron, 2 tablespoons minced candied lemon peel, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg, 1/2 teaspoon cloves, 1/2 cup milk. Mix and sift 1 cup flour with spices, soda and salt. Sift remaining flour over fruit. Mix grated vegetables, suet and sugar. Mix thoroughly and add fruit. Mix well and turn into a buttered mold. Cover and steam three and one-half hours. Serve warm with liquid sauce.

FRUIT TAPIOCA

Fruit tapioca pudding made with dried fruits is rather unusual and very good. The pearl tapioca is better than the quick cooking variety for this concoction.

Use one-half cup pearl tapioca, 2 1/2 cups cold water, 1/2 teaspoon salt, 2-inch stick cinnamon, 1 1/2 cups currants, 1/2 cup almonds, blanched and shredded, 1/2 cup citron, sliced and shredded, 1/2 cup seeded raisins, 1/2 cup sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla.

Let tapioca stand in the water overnight. Add cinnamon and cook in same water until transparent. Add jelly, fruit and nuts and cook long enough to melt the jelly, stirring to mix thoroughly. Add sugar and when cool add vanilla. Turn into a mold and chill thoroughly. Serve cold with whipped cream slightly sweetened and lightly flavored with vanilla.

FO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast—California grapes, cereal, cream, codfish and potato puffs, corn, bread, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Noodle soup, canned asparagus, and, rye bread, apple pan-cakes, milk, tea.

Dinner—Baked finnan haddock with oysters, baked squash, Chinese cabbage salad, Cumberland pudding, milk, coffee.

Alderman H. O. Litchfield, who made the motion to this effect, reviewed the efficient service given by the local department and referred to the purchase last year of more modern equipment. Damage by fire in Victoria in recent years had been negligible, and he thought the time was ripe for a conference on the matter with the representatives of insurance companies.

Heart Hungry

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN
AUTHOR OF "DASHI GOMANCE"

"Oh, yes! I really didn't mean to stay in bed so late. I felt dreadfully tired after breakfast!"

"Humph—It's no matter! Always have breakfast served in my room, and your father doesn't take anything except coffee. Aline has orders to bring you breakfast at 9:30 each morning. That's a good thing, isn't it? Makes servants restless to be having meal times changed around."

She said so sternly that Celia hastened to agree that a tray at 9:30 each morning would be entirely satisfactory.

Mrs. Mitchell sat back in her chair. "Now that you're here," she said to the girl, "what are you going to do?"

"Why, I—just sit here!"

The elder woman nodded her head with an "I-told-you-so" expression. "You don't know!" she said, emphasizing each word. "It's a great responsibility to have a young girl like you in the house. Do you realize that? I don't mind telling you I hesitated when your father first talked about bringing you here. But you're a Mitchell, and I hope I know my duty when I see it! Now, then, the question is—what are you going to do?"

Celia's eyes widened.

"Why, you see I haven't made any plans."

"No? Well, never mind. I'll do the planning. In fact, I've already done it. Tell me something about yourself. What did you do in Baltimore?"

There was something vigorous and wholesome about the aged woman's brusqueness, but this quality was lost on Celia.

"Well, I've never done much of anything except go to school. I studied stenography."

"Augh—stenography? Mrs. Mitchell's hands raised in horror. "This, I suppose, in a public school?" she asked.

The girl nodded.

"As bad as I thought," the older woman sighed. "As bad as I thought!"

Mrs. Mitchell rested one arm on her desk and tapped her pencil disconsolately. Then she rose and paced back and forth across the room. After a moment she halted in front of Celia and looked at her intently.

"I really don't know if it can be done," she said solemnly. "I wonder—"

Her expression and manner seemed to say clearly that Celia was a disgrace. Under this shadowy vision of her grandmother's black and white lace costume, but she lowered her eyes and, following the mid-day lesson, did her best not to appear to enjoy herself.

They withdrew to the drawing room. Mitchell was soon reading a newspaper and his mother began her nightly game of solitaire.

"I've made an appointment with Charlotte for Monday," Mrs. Mitchell said. "Charlotte," she added, with a nod toward Celia, "makes all my gowns and I consider her shop much the most satisfactory in town."

"Satisfactory" was not the word Celia would have used to describe her stately grandmother's black and white lace costume, but she lowered her eyes and, following the mid-day lesson, did her best not to appear to enjoy herself.

Gives Up Elevator Job To Assume His Baronetcy

Liverpool, Jan. 12.—Sir Reginald Wolesey, former Waterloo, Iowa, elevator man and baronet, returned to England with Lady Wolesey on the steamer Baltic to-day and said they planned to stay in England.

In a statement to the press Sir Reginald said that because of the great distance between them when he was in Iowa and his wife in England, shortly after their marriage, he had quite misunderstood her. "Now we have a better understanding of each other," he said. "I take back all those things said and done by me. I am sorry it caused her so much sorrow and I hope to atone and believe we shall be very happy together."

BEDTIME STORY Uncle Wiggily's Snow House

(Copyright, 1932, by Howard R. Garis)

Baby Bunty jumped out of bed and out of the window she popped her head.

"Oh, no! Wait a moment if you please. That is another story. It was too cold for Baby Bunty to pop her head out of the window. But the little orphan rabbit child jumped out of bed and, running to the window, she looked out and began to sing.

"It's snowing! It's snowing!"

"It's really," asked Jingle. "You aren't fooling, are you, Bunty?"

"No, really!" answered Baby Bunty. "It's snowing like everything and I can see the wind blowing. But it's so snug and warm in Uncle Wiggly's hollow stump bungalow that I can't feel the cold wind."

Soon the word was called from one to the other of the forty-seven sixteen bunny boys and girls in the bungalow. Buster called to Custer and Duster called to Myster and so on.

"It's snowing! It's snowing!"

Then the boy rabbits jumped up and dressed as fast as they could and the girl rabbits did the same and then the stairs they hopped to get their breakfast.

"What fun we'll have going to school in the snow!" said Jingle, who was a twin sister of Jangle.

"We'll make snowballs and we'll slide down the hill on our sleds after school and on the way to school we can make slides on the walk," said Baby Bunty, who had been the first to see the snow, the white flakes of which began drifting down in the night.

Uncle Wiggily came into the breakfast-room to twinkle his pink nose at the children rabbits.

"Why are you all so jolly?" he asked.

"Because it's snowing!" said Jangle.

Then he was the first to see the snow. The Longears looked out of the window and saw the flakes, like feathers, drifting down.

"Bum!" murmured the bunny daddy. "So it is snowing! Well, it may be fun for you children, but it means work for me. I must shovel some paths around the bungalow and also out the fast-roving rabbits can walk there. Yes, it will be hard work, but never mind. It will be doing some good and I may have an adventure."

It's snowing!

So, after the children had hurried to school, laughing, shouting, sliding, making snowballs and throwing them, Uncle Wiggily got out his big wooden shovel and began to make paths.

After a while he had made a big pile of snow at the end of the path which led from his bungalow to the street. It was higher than the rabbit gentleman's head for he had tossed on top of the pile all the snow he shoveled from the walk.

After he had made some paths, Uncle Wiggily sat at this big heap of snow and said:

"That will make a fine house for my bunny children to play in when they come home from school. I'll dig a hole in the side of the snow pile and make a snow house."

Banging the shovel down hard along one side of the heap of snow, Mr. Longears packed it firmly. Then he dug a hole in the front door of the snow house. Next he began digging out shovel after shovel of snow, tossing it back of him upon another pile. Pretty soon the rabbit had a big hole in the side of the pile and he could go inside just as if he had gone into his bungalow.

"This will be a fine snow house as heart could wish," chuckled Mr. Longears. "The children can have fun in it when they come home. He made the inside of the house larger and then, being tired, he sat down on the shovel to rest. While he was resting he heard a sniffling and sniffing sound outside the snow house.

"He! Some one is coming!" whispered Mr. Longears. He listened and he heard a voice saying:

"He must be around here somewhere. I saw him shoveling paths. I'll dig him out. He must be outside yet and I'll get him."

"My goodness! It's the Bob Cat!" whispered Mr. Longears. He peeked out of the side of the snow house door and saw the Bad Chap out in front, looking all around for the rabbit. "But he shall not get me!" said the bunny. Quickly, with his shovel, he dug a back door for his snow house and ran out that way and into his bungalow. And then, safe in the bungalow, Mr. Longears called to the Bob Cat: "Ho! Ho! Who got fooled?"

And the Bob Cat was so mad he scratched the snow and ran home.

When the bunny chaps came from school the play in the snow house and had lots of fun and the Bob Cat didn't come back. And if the ice cream will come to the party which the chocolate cake is going to have for the bunny cat, I'll tell you about Uncle Wiggily and the Fox.

Horoscope

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1932

Benefic aspects dominate on this supposedly "unlucky" day of the month. The morning should be favorable for those who seek either promotions or employment. The signs favor work of every sort and appear to promise much achievement in the business. It is a good day for those who seek good positions that assure fair salaries. For those who are not superstitious this is a lucky wedding day, for the stars promise worldly progress as well as lasting love.

Astrolucians certainly appear to be subject to the best planetary influences. There is a sign indicating that the world will need food and fuel of the readiest kind. It is a day when supply and demand will make it impossible to waste the fruits and grains that the lands produce, astrologers declare. All who are interested in building should close bridges and aqueducts.

The stars again stress the importance of co-operation among all classes of citizens in the United States. Unity of purpose and community of interest are stressed by the stars.

Persons whose birthdays it is have the anxiety of a year of real advancement. They should avoid the loss of letters or valuable papers.

Children born on this day probably will be of serious minds and high ambition. The subjects of this sign attain distinction.

Salomon P. Chase, statesman, was born on this day, 1808. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Michel Chevalier, 1880, French economist, and Samuel Woodworth, 1785, author of "The Old Oaken Bucket."

Sir Reginald Wolesey, Bart., and Lady Wolesey are shown here as they decided to forsake life in Waterloo, Ia., where Sir Reginald was an elevator operator, and return to the ancestral mansion in Devonshire, England. He fulfilled his mother's dying wish by marrying her nurse who followed him to America. However, he would not return to England, and his wife left him. Now all is forgiven and they are on their way to Devonshire.

CHILE STRIKE BRINGS OUT GUNS

Associated Press
Santiago, Chile, Jan. 12.—Communists and left-wing politicians renewed their efforts to-day for a continuation of the general strike which was called yesterday but nullified to a great extent by the government with a fleet of tanks equipped with machine guns. President Esteban Montero flatly refused the demands of the groups, declaring the move was purely political and not founded on a bona fide labor dispute.

An attempt was made to burn three street cars here yesterday evening, but it was frustrated. The country was quiet except for a few minor disturbances.

HERRIDGE HEARD IN NEW YORK

Addressing Pilgrims, Minister Speaks of Canadian-U.S. Friendship

Canadian Press
New York, Jan. 12.—Hon. W. D. Herridge, Canadian Minister to the United States, who was guest of honor at a dinner of the Pilgrims here yesterday evening, told the society dedicated to the betterment of relations between English-speaking nations that, while friendship among nations in other days had been an ideal, it was now a "veritable necessity."

"Once," he said, "mutual animosity and distrust were confronted with the barriers of time and space. The elements united to impose peace and halt the onslaught of aggression. In this new age of miracles in transportation and communications, when the world, like the iron chamber in Poe's weird romance, grows a little smaller day by day, the old barriers are down and reason and fair play must take their place."

Concerning the traditional friendship between the United States and Canada, the minister said: "There has been no other time in our history when to us both genuine friendship was more vital and its advantages more certain and far-reaching than they are to-day. That is because the world has become smaller and also because in the last two or three years the world has become a deadly power."

Canadian-United States friendship, he said, was a real one. "This was because the actions of either government had been received with universal approbation in the other or had been immune from criticism. It was perhaps rather on that account that the nations had remained friends."

DUBLIN EDITOR BEFORE COURT

Dublin, Irish Free State, Jan. 12.—Frank Gallagher, editor of the Irish Press, newspaper of which Eamon de Valera is controlling director, was summoned to-day to appear before a military tribunal to answer a charge of sedition levelled against the government of the Irish Free State.

The newspaper itself was also given a summons and this was taken to mean Valera himself might be called for an appearance.

The alleged libel consists in quoting and commenting on signed statements by and interviews with released prisoners, with remarks on reports of prison conditions.

FOOD HOARDINGS "Frankenstein" Will

Open Here on Monday At Capitol Theatre

Much Discussed Play, With Excellent Cast, Will Be One of Season's Finest

Packed to the brim with thrills, and called by experts the most original film ever to reach the screen, Universal's eerie "Frankenstein" will make its debut at the Capitol Theatre next week with Colin Clive, Mae Clark, John Boles and Boris Karloff in the featured roles.

The extraordinary story of a young scientist who brought a human monster to life through weird electrical mechanisms and surgery is based upon the fantastic eighteenth century narrative of the same name written by Mary Shelley, wife of the poet.

Karloff, in his characterization of the monster, is reported to wear makeup weighing forty-eight pounds in itself. Colin Clive, of "Journey's End" fame, was brought expressly from London to enact the scientist, and Dwight Frye, of "Dracula," plays the important part of the picture.

Boris Karloff, the famous Englishman, directed "Frankenstein," and John Baldwin, Garrett Fort and Frances Farnon prepared the screen adaptation. Arthur Edson, the well-known cinematographer, was the animation of the picture and "Waterloo Bridge," photographed the picture and Danny Hall, the equally distinguished artist, designed the unusual settings of the film.

Soviet Makes New Trade Offer To Canadians

Canadian Press
Montreal, Jan. 12.—The Montreal Star yesterday said: "Offering as an immediate inducement a $5,000,000 order for the Quebec aluminum industry, the Soviet Government is again endeavoring to re-establish trade relations with Canada."

The terms of the offer are understood to be acceptance by the aluminum interest of $2,000,000 worth of Russian coal in exchange, the balance to be paid in gold or on credit terms.

Already the proposal has been placed before the Quebec Government and is receiving the consideration of Premier Taschereau and Hon. Athanas David, Provincial Secretary. Arrangements are being made to bring it similarly before the government at Ottawa.

The Russian end of the negotiations is being conducted by the Soviet official trading agency in New York.

ITALIAN PAPER URGES ENDING OF WAR DEBTS

Associated Press
Milan, Jan. 12.—A call to the nations to do something radical immediately if they want western civilization to survive, intimating war debts as well as reparations should be cancelled, was contained in an editorial yesterday in Popolo d'Italia.

The editorial was unsigned, but understood to represent Premier Mussolini's viewpoint.

It referred to the Premier's declaration at Naples on October 15, that it was time to put an end to the "tragic keeping of the war." Apparently with the impending Lausanne Reparations Conference in mind, it said that Russia was negotiating on trade with this country. Mr. Powell said he could not simplify the statement at present.

Quebec, Jan. 12.—"I have never heard of it. It is news to me. I have not yet been in touch with anyone connected with the Soviets," said Premier L. A. Taschereau of Quebec, replying to a dispatch from Montreal stating a project by Soviet Russia to purchase aluminum in Quebec to the extent of $5,000,000, which would be partly paid by $2,000,000 worth of Soviet coal, had been placed before himself and Hon. Athanas David, Provincial Secretary.

Babe Ruth Gives His Views on Twenty-year Plan in Baseball

Figures He Will Probably Be Last One to Accomplish Feat

Bobby Jones Building What He Thinks Will Be Perfect Course

Course Will Test Player's Ability and Knowledge of His Clubs

NO DOUBT a good percentage of the sports fans have heard about the Russian five-year plan. Now we are going to tell something about Babe Ruth, famous home-run hitter of the New York Yankees, and his twenty-year plan. Ruth is concentrating on putting it over. As a matter of fact he has it fairly well under control already. He is at present has eighteen past with two to go. Ruth says he just wants to play for two more years. Then they would have to cut his shoes off, he'll turn them in.

Ruth says he would like to round out twenty years playing in major baseball, as it would be a record for a fellow to look back on with pride. Ruth figures he will be about the last to accomplish the feat. Cobb, Speaker and others did it before him. However, Ruth claims baseball has changed since the old days and he doubts whether any one will do it again. It was easier going in the old days. Now the teams go in for long training trips and a long list of exhibition games. The latter are harder on players than regular games, what with jumping around the country, playing on poor fields, hanging around waiting for trains and so on.

However, in exhibition games, there is one thing Ruth never does, and that is slide. But he always plays to win. The home-run king states a number of good players have themselves sliding on poor fields. Ruth states exhibition games are much harder on him than league fixtures, mainly through the fact that a number of the fans at such games pay their admission fee to see him hit a home-run. If he goes up to the plate and strikes out or pops up it puts a terrific strain on him.

When he retires Ruth would like to take life easy and play golf. The Babe is not fussy about a club, or the management of a club. After twenty years he figures he will have had his fill of baseball and will be glad to leave the sport. Ruth is one of the most enthusiastic golfers among big league players and swings a wicked club.

At Augusta, Georgia, Bobby Jones is building what he believes will be the nearest perfect golf course in the world. It will be patterned after the famous holes Jones has played in the United States and abroad. The "lough holes" at St. Andrews, Royal St. George's, Oakmont and Mamaroneck and other well-known courses will be there. The new course is to be called the Augusta National, and is being financed by Jones's friends in Wall Street and Georgia.

It is not going to be such a long course but will rather put a premium on accuracy. There won't be a 500-yard hole in the layout. Dr. Allister Mackenzie, a Scotsman, is co-operating with Jones in the engineering problems the new course offers. Mackenzie has designed more than 400 courses, with the Cypress Point course in California his outstanding achievement. The new course will be 6,300 yards in length from the ordinary tees, and 6,700 yards for championship play.

The aim is to provide a links where each shot must be sharp, and a test of the player's knowledge of his clubs and of his own strength. Short, accurate hitting will have to be the order of the day, for which direction often is sacrificed. The course will also offer small chance of making up ground lost through errors. Membership in the National is being carefully drawn from all parts of the world. Several Canadian and English sportsmen will be invited to join.

There will be no women members, but the rules of the club will allow them to the course as guests of members. It is the idea of Jones and associates to make the place a golf course, pure and simple, and to exclude social functions under club auspices. One of the unusual features will be an actual nineteenth hole for play-offs to be called the "quits" hole. Jones says the course will be ready for play by next December.

Canadian Mushers At Winter Sports

Ottawa, Jan. 12.—Ottawa will be represented in the dog derby to be run at Lake Placid, N.Y., on February 6 and 7 in connection with the Olympic winter sports. It will be a fifty-mile event, run in two twenty-five-mile laps.

Jack Defazio, Ottawa, fireman, who made his debut as a racing driver during the running of the international dog derby last winter, has entered a team of nine huskies.

Among others from Canada who will take part in the race are Emil St. Germain and the Pao, Man, and Earl Brydges, formerly of Cranberry Port, Manitoba, and now of Lake Placid. Several Quebec teams also are expected to enter.

Sixteen Teams To Reduce Payrolls By $1,000,000

General Retrenchment Programme of Club Owners Will Play Havoc With Pay Cheques of Leading Players; Wilson, Terry, Vance, Herman, Paul Waner, Kremer, Brame, Malone, Root, Hartnett and Others to Fall Under Axe; Connie Mack May Continue to Pay Top Wages to His Men

By ALAN GOULD

New York, Jan. 12.—Basing judgment upon the first few slashes at the major league payrolls for 1932, the shrill cry of the holdout will be heard this winter from coast to coast.

The full extent of the "bad news" arising from the sharp retrenchment programme of club owners has just begun to circulate. Hack Wilson, the 1930 home-run king, who was paid $33,000 last year by the Chicago Cubs, has been offered a cut in excess of 75 per cent. Bill Terry, who was the 1930 National League batting champion and runner-up in 1931, has been asked to accept a 40 per cent reduction by the New York Giants.

Seeks Land Speed Record To-morrow

Auckland, N.Z., Jan. 12.—Wizard Smith, Australian speed driver, said today he will make his attempt to break the world land speed record of six Mableton Campbell to-morrow. If the weather and beach conditions here are suitable for the ten-mile run.

FOUR RUGBY GAMES HERE ON SATURDAY

Bays to Meet Gunners and Wanderers to Battle Navy in Senior Tussles

Victoria College to Play Intermediate Scottish; Oarsmen to Face Fifth

Four rugby games, two in the senior division and two in the intermediate section, will be offered fans here on Saturday as the first division continues its second half play and the second division starts on the home stretch.

The James Bay Athletic Association will oppose the Fifth Regiment, Oak Bay Wanderers will clash with the Navy. Victoria College will battle the Intermediate Scottish at Victoria High School grounds, and the Gunners will take the field against the Bays' second team.

The senior oarsmen will be seeking their second win of the half against the Gunners. The Fifth started the season slowly, but at the close of the first half had developed into a good fighting fifteen. They may be able to pull a surprise on the rowing club.

Unless the withdrawal of those stars who left with the ships on their west Indies cruise has greatly weakened the sailors, it should be a good fight when the blue-jackets stack up against the Wanderers. Both teams have suffered losses, partly through injuries, but should give a good account of themselves. On paper the Navy has a slight edge.

Victoria College is expected to have little difficulty against the Canadian Scottish in their fixture at Victoria High School. The students went through their first half schedule without a defeat, while the Highlanders had great difficulty in breaking into the win column. The militiamen will be somewhat heavier than their opponents, but the Craigdarroch boys should be able to use their well-organized backfield to great advantage against the less experienced troops.

Fifth Regiment intermediates, who showed up to advantage at the close of last season, should give the Bays a merry battle in the other fixture of the day. The strength of either team is comparatively unknown, but both squads have shown plenty of enthusiasm so far this year and will doubtless put on a good battle.

Jokers Will Clash With Esquimalt In Province Cup Final

Senior Football Teams Meet Saturday in Lower Island Final of Provincial Competition at Royal Athletic Park; Winner Will Advance Into First Round Proper With Saanich Thistles; Junior Teams in Cup Semi-finals; Wednesday League Elevens in Cup Finals To-morrow

Only one first division football match will be played on Saturday afternoon with Esquimalt and the Jokers meeting at the Royal Athletic Park in the lower island final of the Province Cup series. The match will commence at 2.15 o'clock and one of the largest crowds of the season is looked for. The winner of this match will advance into the first round proper of the provincial series along with the Saanich Thistles who drew a bye in the local eliminations.

The two Victoria finalists will then be drawn against mainland clubs in the knockout competition to decide the holder of the trophy, at present retained by the New Westminster Royals. Esquimalt gained the final round last season, being beaten by the Royals 4 to 1 at Vancouver.

In the preliminary rounds of the local series, Esquimalt subdued the Victoria West eleven 3 to 1, while the Jokers accounted for Victoria City 2 to 1 in overtime in a replay. In their first meeting the match was halted in the second overtime session on account of darkness, with the Jokers holding a two-goal lead.

In view of their victory in the first half of the Victoria and District League schedule, Esquimalt will be favored to win Saturday's match, although the Jokers are counted on providing the city champions with stiff competition.

Four of the teams in the Victoria and District Junior Football League will engage in the semi-final rounds of the Lower Island Junior Football Cup competition on Saturday. At the Heywood Avenue grounds Esquimalt will meet Royal Oak. Victoria City will go up against Esquimalt at the lower Beacon Hill ground.

Two matches will also be played in the league with Jokers and Saanich Thistles clashing at Victoria West Park, and Y.M.C.A. and Duncan meeting at the Central Park.

All four games will commence at 2.30 o'clock.

To-morrow afternoon at the Royal Athletic Park the Hudson's Bay and Navy will meet in the final of the Rennie & Taylor Cup competition. In a Pandey Cup fixture the Garrison and Saanich United will hook up at the Work Point Barracks. Both matches will get under way at 2.30 o'clock.

In the opening matches of the Rennie & Taylor Cup event the Bays and Navy will meet in the final of the Rennie & Taylor Cup competition. In a Pandey Cup fixture the Garrison and Saanich United will hook up at the Work Point Barracks. Both matches will get under way at 2.30 o'clock.

Mr. Warren secured the promise of the president's support for the move to have the first six and the eighth event staged in Victoria on Saturday, at which the Victoria clubs will be represented as follows: Vancouver Island Swimming League, R. W. Hibberd; C.A.S.A., A. I. Stewart; Crystal Garden Swimming Team, H. Covillshaw, and Victoria Amateur Swimming Club, George I. Warren.

Each one of the thirteen events on the Canadian trials' programme will be a Dominion championship, for which the regular series of medals will be purchased.

In addition to choosing the venue for the trials at the meeting in Vancouver Saturday evening, the British Columbia branch will elect a provincial secretary and certain other officers.

ASKED FOR ENTIRE MEET

Before leaving Capt. Clappitt, Mr. Warren appealed to him to allot the entire meet to Victoria. The local man reminded the provincial leader that such a gesture would be a generous move and would furnish the stimulus needed for the swimming game in Victoria. Mr. Warren also pointed out that Vancouver had been promised the trials and field trials.

He also said that the Chamber of Commerce would assist Victoria in every way possible in financing the event, should they, or a part of them, be given to Victoria. The Chamber was ready to help in the purchase of medals and in defraying the expenses of competing athletes in the matter of housing, he said.

RANGY VINES AND E. CROSS TOP RANKINGS

National Champion and San Francisco Girl Head California List

Helen Moody, Helen Jacobs Not Ranked; Keith Gledhill Second

San Francisco, Jan. 12.—Ellsworth Vines, rangy Los Angeles youth, who won most of the country's tennis titles last year, including the national championship, heads California's racket swingers for 1931. State rankings, released yesterday, list the University of Southern California's promote first in the men's singles, and with Keith Gledhill, of Santa Barbara, first in the men's doubles.

Vines holds the No. 1 singles ranking nationally. He won so many titles last year the writers almost lost track of them.

California rankings, however, are confined to those players who competed in not less than two sanctioned tournaments during the season. For this reason, the two outstanding stars of the country, Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, San Francisco, and Miss Helen Jacobs, Berkeley, received no state recognition, although they rank No. 1 and No. 2, respectively, in the national list.

MISS CROSS FIRST

The honor of leading the women's singles division was accorded Miss Edith Cross, San Francisco, while Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland, national champion in 1930, placed second.

In the men's singles, Gledhill placed next to Vines, while Edward Chandler, Berkeley, a former national intercollegiate champion, stroked his way to third position.

WOMEN'S SINGLES

1.—Edith Cross, San Francisco.
2.—Mrs. L. A. Harper, Oakland.
3.—Alice Marble, Los Angeles.
4.—Dorothy Weel, Sacramento.
5.—Josephine Cruikshank, Santa Ana.
6.—Dr. Esther Barstow, Los Angeles.
7.—Elizabeth Deike, Los Angeles.
8.—Carolyn Babcock, Los Angeles.
9.—Mrs. Ethel Burkhardt Arnold, Los Angeles.
10.—Patsy McCoy, San Francisco.

FRANKIE WINE BEATEN

Miami, Fla., Jan. 12.—Clyde Chastain, Texas, pounded out a ten-round decision yesterday evening over Frankie Wine, Montana, in the feature bout of a card here. Judges gave Chastain the edge in nine rounds.

Mac Smit Wins Los Angeles Golf For Third Time

Veteran Scot Has Splendid 281 For 72-hole Struggle

Victory Stills Whispers That Father Time Had Over-taken His Game; Displayed Rare Judgment and Necessary Stamina to Finish on Top; Wins $2,000 and Tops Money Winners for Year; Four Tied for Second Place; $15,000 Agua Caliente Tourney Opens To-morrow

Los Angeles, Jan. 12.—MacDonald Smith had followers of golf shaking their heads to-day.

The stoical Scot from Carnoustie, N.Y., and elsewhere, yesterday terminated a one-man parade over the Hillcrest Country Club course to win his third Los Angeles $7,500 open in the seven years it has run.

It was a one-man parade, despite the starting field of 138 pros and amateurs, because Smith did what many have said couldn't be done—take the lead in a tournament and retain it through all the various stages.

SEATTLE GOLF STARS COMING

Johnny Shields and Mrs. N. O. Young to Compete in Mid-winter Tourney

Seattle's leading amateur golfers will constitute a real threat in the fourth annual Empress mid-winter golf tournament to be played over the Colwood Golf Club course February 22 to 27. According to word received to-day Johnny Shields, famous Sound City shotmaker, and Washington State titleholder, and Mrs. N. O. Young, former Pacific Northwest champion, will be entered in this year's event.

Seattle will also send over representatives for the team competitions and sides from the Overlake and Seattle Golf and Country Clubs will be entered, according to Frank Ruppe and Alex Rose, who are organizing an expedition from the Washington city.

Mrs. Vera Hutchings, leading Vancouver woman player, is also a probable entry, and will rule one of the favorites to lift the E. W. Beatty championship trophy for the women's division.

Officials in charge of the tournament also look forward to a strong contingent of players from the prairie provinces, Regina, Edmonton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Winnipeg have been well represented in former tournaments.

On the same evening, Monarchs, winners of the first half of the city intermediate division, will clash with an all-star squad from other teams in that section.

Announcement of the date for the fixture is expected soon.

This evening Burnetts, who came through with a surprise over Jokers in their first last week, will be out for another victory at the expense of Jones Brothers. The match will be the feature on to-night's programme at the King rink and will start at 8:30 o'clock. In the intermediate division, Rosebuds will clash with the Capital Shoe squad on club ice.

On Thursday evening Jokers will take the floor for the second time in the second half with the determination to break into the win column against the Bovers. Crow Juniors will battle the smart Monarchs.

Jack Wallace will handle both intermediate games, while Ernie Stock will be in charge of the senior fixtures.

McMillan disposed of the far westerner with a series of flying tackles. He weighed 217, Steele 215.

DEMPEY SIGNS FOR BOUTS

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 12.—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion of the world, has signed to fight in Milwaukee February 8, as part of his next exhibition tour. He will engage in one four-round of two rounds.

Dempsey's last appearance in Milwaukee was in 1918 before he became champion. On that occasion he knocked out Bill Brennan.

One Time Brilliant Outfielder of National League Through With Baseball

Former Batting Champion; Played With World Champion Reds Back in 1919

Cincinnati, Ohio, Jan. 12.—Eddie Roush, for years one of the National League's most brilliant outfielders and a former batting champion, was given his unconditional release to-day by the Cincinnati Reds.

The veteran outfielder, who tried to come back last year after a season's idleness, was offered a contract yesterday if he would accept a utility role.

"I believed I would be able to get back into my old time physical condition," Roush said, "but Old Father Time had a hand on me."

Roush was at his peak in 1919, a member of the world champion Reds.
